United States Election . . .

The Republican party, which naturally advocated a more aggressive war effort because there was nothing else upon which to base an appeal for support at this time, shows an upsurge of strength as a result of the United States general elections which took place yesterday. However, it fell short of gaining congressional control so the Roosevelt administration should have no serious embarrassment from that quarter. Had it not been for the war and the inconceivability of interfering with its pursuit by President Roosevelt, yesterday's voting would probably have resulted in a major political turnover in Congress.

Notable were the upsets in some of the state administrations such as New York, California and Nebraska where Democrats or New Dealers lost out to the Republicans. These changes, of course, will have no direct national effect.

Summed up, the United States election results indicate a decided movement back towards Republicanism in the states that normally are Republican. The south remains traditionally Democratic.

The Municipal Election . . .

It is quite fitting that the Prince Rupert Ratepayers' Association should take steps to actively interest itself in what happens in the forthcoming civic election, an event which we are to have again here in Prince Rupert next month after a lapse of just about ten years.

While the war is on and things are so uncertain, it will be large a matter of "carrying on" as far as civic affairs are concerned. We can anticipate no ambitious program of straight civic work. To plan such under present conditions would be as unseemly as it would be impossible to hope for any accomplishment. However, besides straight war activities, there are important local services to be maintained, valuable community interests to be protected and it also will be well to be planning ahead for the day when municipal government will be of more active character than it can be at present.

It is appropriate that we should be thinking of the kind of men or women we shall be electing in December and it is all to be the good that organizations having a direct interest in civic and community affairs should be getting busy. Unfortunately, there seems to be a rather marked spirit of indifference and a "Let George Do It" attitude.

As for the ratepayers, the registrations show that they will be much in the preponderance as voters which makes it all the more fitting that they should be taking a leading and organized interest in the candidates that are nominated and elected and the policies they should follow.

Ambulance Service . . .

The members of the Prince Rupert Fire Department are to be commended on the spirit they have shown in taking over the operation of the ambulance of the Prince Rupert General Hospital on a voluntary basis at a time when the hospital authorities were perplexed as to what was to be done about maintaining the service. The men at the Fire Hall did not need to have taken on the job but they evidently felt that some one should feel a sense of duty in the matter so they did it themselves. It is a very commendable gesture of public spiritedness. The act will at least have some measure of reward in the knowledge that it is one of mercy which will help to relieve suffering and, possibly indeed, save life. Such acts are becoming all too few these days.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT, Hostess

We would like to thank Lieut. Commander Alex Mitchell, commanding officer of the Sea Cadets, and the Sea Cadets themselves for their very splendid response to our plea for magazines. Seemingly tons of magazines poured in. Thanks, Sea Cadets!

There will be no dances held at the "Y" until further notice.

We saw a film at the "Y" last night called "Father Takes a Wife" and in bit parts there were so many old timers like Neil Hamilton and Grant Withers—remember Loretta Young's Once-Upon-A-Time?—that I had to stop recognizing them in self defence. Gloria Swanson was the star. The years have been kind to her. It was a grand show.

I would like to remind the boys again that our set of the Book of Knowledge is not to be taken away from the men's reading room. I notice that volume Number 9 is missing which spoils the whole set. The books on the shelves along the west wall are the library books and may be taken out for a week at a time. Two may be taken out at a time. There is a library book on the desk and you sign in and out in it. We work on what is known as the honor system and with very gratifying results for we have lost very few books. The books are all supplied by the I. O. D. E. and are changed frequently.

Jock and I have invented a new indoor game. We played it with a couple of wooden spoon-like contraptions with short handles and a billiard ball. We throw the ball back and forth catching it in the spoons and, if you don't think it's interesting or takes skill, you should just see the gallery we had watching us and cheering us on. Need I say Jock won?

Tomorrow Carl Clay goes on his vacation, and a well earned one, after six months of what he laughingly terms hard work. Just a few hundred chairs to put up and down for three shows and one concert a week besides running most of the shows and get-

PT. SIMPSON IS WARLIKE

Pacific Coast Rangers Stage Parade to See Demonstration of Small Arms and Machine Gunnery

In keeping with the spirit of the times and the general move towards organization of various types of defence along the coast, the tranquil and quiet nearby native village of Port Simpson a few days ago presented a military aspect when, under command of Lieut. Valpy, who has taken charge of the unit there, native Pacific Coast Rangers turned out in parade to attend a demonstration of small arms and machine guns by Staff Sergeant Martin, instructor of the Pacific Coast Rangers. The event took place during the visit of Capt. O'Grady, field supervisor and organizer of the Rangers, who called on his way back to Prince Rupert after a trip up the Naas River. The Port Simpson Rangers, Capt. O'Grady reports, are very active and alert.

talent for the concerts and planning programs. Have fun, Carl.

and have their own brass band.

Between October 22 and 29, Capt. O'Grady visited the Naas River villages of Kincolith, Alyansh, Greenville and Canyon City in connection with the final organization of Pacific Coast Range units. Final organization of the Naas River company of Pacific Coast Rangers has now been authorized. Suitable leaders have been elected and 150 enlistment forms have been completed with fifty more to sign up in the return of the men to the villages.

Capt. O'Grady and Staff Sergeant Martin made the trip to the Naas River aboard the Indian Department cruiser Naskeena, being accompanied by Indian Agent James Gillett.

THINGS TO REMEMBER...

in the use of YOUR ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

- A For really safe preservation food must be kept between 40° and 50°.
- B Most foods should be kept in covered dishes so that vitamins and flavour will be preserved.
- C Remove paper wrappings from all food except frozen food. Paper acts as insulation and prevents the cold from reaching the food quickly.
- D Uncooked meat should be unwrapped and placed in meat compartment. If your refrigerator has no meat compartment, place meat in defrosting tray and cover loosely with waxed paper.
- E Do not freeze fruit—chill it only. Avoid even near-freezing temperature.
