Danger to Country . . .

The front page photograph published yesterday in The Daily News showing the Japanese fishing fleet at Steveston indicates to what an extent the Japanese had penetrated the fishing industry in British Columbia where they might prove a danger to the country in case of invasion. Many of these Japanese citizens of Canada may be friendly to Canada but it is difficult to know who may be trusted, so the general opinion seems to be that it is not safe to trust any.

Japan's Finances . . .

Up to that fateful day when Japanese bombers drop- n ped death and destruction on Pearl Harbor, many news- P papers on this continent were publishing articles proving E conclusively that if the Nippon militarists started anything they could not hope to finish it, says the Ottawa Citizen. The conviction of the writers was that Japan F was nearing financial bankruptcy.

In one crudity masquerading as economic thinking H has received a death blow in this war it is the notion K that money or the lack of it makes any fundamental dif- MacDonald ference in the prosecution of war by a modern nation. Lack of goods and manpower would soon reduce a nation to impotence, but never the lack of money, which is a comparatively costless convenience. In Germany and c Japan it is adapted by the state to national purposes.

One of the last articles printed on the subject of Japan's financial straits pointed out that the recent Tok- I yo budget called for expenditures of $3,500,000,000, "well over half of the national income," and that the Japanese national debt has tripled in the last 10 years. The conclusion is reached:

"Experience shows that a government can claim as Z much as two-thirds of the national income, but only for a limited time. So it is apparent that Japan is already close to the maximum on war production."

Nothing could be more foolish and dangerous than to imagine that Japanese war production is limited by figures of national monetary income. Besides, only a short time ago the Tokyo government voted another 31; billion yen for the war effort. Nobody in his right mind supposes that vote will produce that amount of cash in the form of currency. It means credit, and the usefulness of that credit depends wholly on the raw materials. the stocks of scrap and ore, oil and rubber, which Japan now holds or is able to obtain. If those stocks became exhausted, the voting of 30,000,000,000 yen would not help. Modern war economy is based on men and goods Alexander and work, not on figures in a ledger.

H. M. Daggett extended the wel- five. come of the Baptist congregation The standings in the eliminato Mr. Wright. There was a chal- tions so far: lenge to the churches of Princ Rupert, Mr. Daggett felt, throug the lack of spiritual consciousnes in Prince Rupert. The Baptis congregation might not be as large as some in numbers but the new pastor would find therein many DINNER OF who were faithful to the cause and assiduous in their support.

Rev. James A. Donnell of First United Church spoke in humorous 107 vein. He was sure that Mr 143 Wright's influence would be felt 140 in the community. Interdenom-218 inational differences such as might 170 exist could well be minimized in 186 the fight for Christ. He hoped 72 for a fellowship and congenial co-1936 operation which would be of value to the city as a whole.

Rev. A. F. MacSween of First missioner for British Columbia, 201 Presbyterian Church wished Mr. 143 Wright all success in the new 103 charge and welcomed his co-oper- George, and moving pictures on ation in the advancing of the work of Christ's Kingdom.

Very Rev. James B. Gibson, dear of St. Andrew's Cathedral, felt the churches were getting closer to-3 gether which was a good thing 263 After all, they were as spokes i 171 a wheel the centre of which was 223 Christ. Fellowship between the 166 churches and unity of purpose were much to be desired.

The new pastor, Mr. Wright, saw plenty of work to be done Prince Rupert. If all put their shoulder to the wheel and faced the difficulties he was sure much could be accomplished. He would be glad of the co-operation and advice of the other ministers. There was a duty for everyone to perform in a war-torn and greedmad world.

Rev. J. H. Myrwang, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, was .188 273 162 also in attendance although ar- Reds and Whites. 189 158 210 riving too late to speak.
