SUNDAY WORK

Editor, Daily News

"The seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God, in it thou shalt do no manner of work . . ."

Having waited in vain for a long time to see a protest from some abler pen than mine against compulsory Sunday labor, I feel it is my duty, as a Christian who believes that we must live according to God's laws, to write against this practice.

There is a "Lord's Day Act" on our statute books, based upon the Fourth Commandment, yet we have the government ordering a seven day week. Has the "Lord's Day Act" been repealed?

It is a well-known fact that more and better work will be accomplished in a six-day week with one day for rest than by working seven straight days. This applies to animals and machinery as well as to man-power.

The war is admittedly being fought, on our part, to maintain Christian civilization and freedom and to destroy the evil in the world and the ruthless domination of evil dictators. Can we ever hope to defeat this evil by the employment of wrong methods?

Of what use are prayers for God's help if we continue to break His commandments?

Our prayers, until we put God's laws back into practice, are only a farce and a mockery and we shall continue to suffer defeats and reverses which have followed us consistently ever since this war began.

It is time for Christian people to wake up and make their voices heard while it is yet time.

Radio Reception . . .

Radio reception conditions are getting pretty bad in Prince Rupert again. Listeners tell of an evident wireless transmission signal which has been causing a good deal of disturbance lately. Some people who have been used to getting certain broadcasts around breakfast time and about noon say they are being almost completely blocked off now as far as receiving is concerned. We are not suggesting that wireless transmission of essential character, be it for war or commercial purposes, should have to give right of way to private radio reception. We do believe, however, that, if anything could be done in a fairly simple or reasonable way so as to make a minimum of interference for the ordinary radio listener, it should be done.

The radio is becoming a utility as well as a comfort to an increasing number of people and these people have a right to some consideration. Prince Rupert folk have been very patient in this matter, we should say.

And who would have ever thought a few years ago that Prince Rupert some day might have to consider hiring a rain-maker?

SUGAR FOR HOME PRESERVING

Sugar rationing is essential. Here are the facts regarding home preserving.

DOES the Government want canning and preserving done in the home?

YES. The Government encourages every housewife to preserve fruit in season.

IS extra sugar available for canning and preserving over and above the regular rations?

YES. By signing a voucher at your grocers, adequate sugar may be purchased, but this additional sugar is for preserving and canning only. (Ask your grocer—he has the forms and all particulars.)

IS it required that sugar purchases be tied to fruit purchases?

NO. You may grow the fruit, collect wild fruit, have fruit as a gift, or buy it from ANY retailer. In any case you are entitled to the sugar required to preserve it.

WHY, if sugar is rationed, does the Government make extra sugar available for this purpose?

THERE are four reasons why home canning and preserving is encouraged.

1. When fruit is fresh it is perishable. If it is not preserved it may be wasted and valuable food reserves lost.
2. Home canned and preserved fruits are particularly valuable from the standpoint of nutrition. Such preserves will help maintain the proper food supply of the Nation, especially when fresh fruits are out of season and not available.
3. Home preserving helps supplement the restricted commercial canning.
4. Canning done at home eliminates delivery and distribution costs, and thereby saves essential labour, gasoline and rubber.

OFFICIAL SUGAR REGULATIONS

Here is authentic, accurate information to guide your war-time preserving.
