DAILY BATH OUT

LONDON, July 22: 7-The Metropolitan Water Board, discussing means of saving fuel, decided to urge people to look upon a bath solely as a means of washing the body when it gets dirty. There is no shortage of water, but a vast amount if fuel is needed for pumping both hot and cold water into homes.

"With an electric range and a little care you can keep precious vitamins from disappearing down the drain," says Reddy Kilowatt. "The even, measured heat of electric cooking avoids the danger of 'hot spots' and scorching, and THAT means you can cook in covered utensils, without stirring. It also means you can cook with little or no water. "And these are two of the most important rules of the scientific, VITAMIZED COOK-ING with electricity
