Letter Box
YOUNG HOODLUMS
Editor, Daily News:
Of late I have read letters in your paper extolling the virtues and otherwise of the local Chamber of Commerce. Now it is not my intention to criticise the Chamber but there is some authority in town due for criticism since the advent of all our war activities and the Cannery on the Ocean Dock. There has developed a small gang of boy hoodlums ranging in age from around twelve to sixteen or seventeen years.

Now on Friday night after 12 p.m. during our black-out the inhabitants of Second Ave. from Ninth St. to the junction were disturbed in their sleep by loud shouting and talking on the street. I got up to find the cause of all the noise and I heard them down at my car so I ran down and saw it was Indian boys who I chased away. They ran west half a block and then commenced their chattering again. I waited for a few minutes and then shouted to them that I'd phone the police patrol if they didn't get home. It had no effect so I went indoors; shortly afterwards I heard them again and looked out of the window and just then a car was coming up the avenue so the bunch, five of them, took to their heels towards First Ave. The last one was a little fellow and he was saying "maybe it's the police wagon the man phoned for." Now that was at 1 a.m.

Why should these young "hoodlums" be allowed to parade the streets at that hour when all our own children have to be indoors and in bed by ten p.m.; is there no such thing as a curfew for these boys? If they have no parental control it's high time someone did something to keep them off the street after ten p.m.

This is not the first time we have had our sleep disturbed by this gang. My wife caught one of these boys throwing a stone at a neighbor's window and she asked him if he was deliberately trying to break the window. His answer was: "What of it? It's a free country."

On Saturday morning when I came out to go down town there was a sorry mess of flowers strewn on the lawn at the side of my garage. They had taken a large tree branch and laid low all the flowers on the bank, pulled peony blooms, tramped them underfoot, threshed down two large clumps of Russell Lupins, pulled up blue bells and crushed the bulbs. My thoughts ran to retaliation but I took a saner view of the situation and reported to the police. But I expect they are too busy otherwise to be troubled with such trivialities as "hoodlums" disturbing the peace and rest and property of the rate-payers of the city.

Thanks, Mr. Editor, and here's hoping this will get some results around town.

WALTER LONGWILL.

Named Assistant C.N.R. Architect

MONTREAL, June 8. — Appointment of G. F. Drummond to the position of assistant chief architect of the Canadian National Railways with office at Montreal is announced by John Schofield, chief architect of the National system.

George Fairly Drummond was born in Glasgow, Scotland, on Sept. 10, 1891, and received his architectural training in the Old Country, being a graduate of the Royal Technical College and the Glasgow School of Art. A short while later he came to Canada and joined the staff of one of the largest architectural firms in Montreal. After service overseas with the Canadian Field Artillery, he returned to his former position and soon became chief designer, being responsible for the design of many important buildings throughout Canada.

In October, 1927, Mr. Drummond joined the architectural department of the Canadian National Railways and two years later was promoted to assistant architect which position he has held until his present appointment. Since joining the railway he has been associated with the design and construction of all the important railway hotels, stations, office buildings and the modernization of passenger car equipment and is well known to the architectural and building trades throughout the dominion. He is a member of the Quebec Association of Architects and also the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada.

"Hitler's not going to teach my children!"

"I've read how Hitler starts training his killers when they're toddlers. So I reckon it's up to me and every other Canadian mother to train our children to realize that they've got to pay for their freedom!"

"That's why I see to it that all my children buy War Savings Stamps every week. I tell them what freedom means—what the grown-ups are fighting for—that it's for them! So they've got to give up something too—and the money—$5.00 back for every $4.00 saved now—will come in mighty handy—when they start out on their own!"

Buy War Savings Stamps from banks, post offices, druggists, grocers and other retail stores.
