Our Town Is Changing . . .

Within the short space of the last two years, due to conditions brought on directly because of the war, Prince Rupert's population has nearly doubled. The effect of this growth, mushroom in character and uncertain as it, may be in regard to permanency, has made the life and outlook of Prince Rupert a great deal different. It has made changes for us all one way or another and we may anticipate more changes because the end of the expansion is not yet. Indeed, the making of the change may only have begun.

The war is changing the way of living of the whole world although some parts of Canada may not have noticed the change so very much as yet. Here in Prince Rupert we are expeiencing not only a general but a local transition. We are having to accustom and attune ourselves not only to different ways but to different ideas. It is time to think of the possibility that some who are unable to or who do not desire to change accordingly! may be left behind.

Never have we had such sudden changes in Prince Rupert and for some it is proving just a little difficult. Some even say thay would prefer the good old easy days when we used to kick and grouse about the hard times and wish for great prosperity and activity. Now a new tempol is developing for many of us due to the changed conditions and, if we cannot keep in pace, we will have to drop

One of the most notable changes is the metropolitanism we are assuming. None of us can go up the street today, as some of us used to do, and personally greet every second person-or possibly-more. Today we are becoming a city of strangers. Everybody no longer knows everybody else's business. Naturally, the changed atmosphere may not be quite so congenial to some of us. It is just because it is different. We are having to change from an atmosphere to which we had been accustomed and it is not a gradual change but a sudden one.

Under far different circumstances than any of us had expected-under circumstances that are perhaps unfortunate and in a manner which we would not have wished for-Prince Rupet is coming into its own. We must watch that we do not succumb in the general rush or become demoralized in keeping up with the march of events which is having such a direct effect on our own community.

One of the greatest of our faults is our inability or unwillingness to change. It is essential that we adapt ourselves to changed conditions.
