Timely Recipes

STEWED RHUBARB

6 cups rhubarb (washed and cut into 1 inch pieces)
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup water.

Wash and dice rhubarb but do not peel. Place in pan with water and cook over low heat until soft. Rhubarb can be cooked in double boiler without water if desired. When done, remove from stove, add sugar, replace cover and allow to stand until cool. Less sugar is required if added after the fruit is cooked. Corn syrup or honey can replace sugar in equal amounts.

It should be noted that different varieties of rhubarb vary in tartness. Therefore the properties given are only approximate.

A general rule that might be useful is 2 tbsp. sugar for every cup of raw diced rhubarb.
