MUSIC IS FEATURED

"Syncopation" is Interesting Picture at Capitol Theatre For Middle of This Week

A story of today's rhythms and how they were developed, "Syncopation," feature picture on the screen of the Capitol Theatre tonight and Thursday, brings together a kaleidoscopic assortment of music and musical backgrounds that blends with pageantry and romance.

With Adolphe Menjou, Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville and George Bancroft in leading roles, the film weaves an engaging story about the career of a girl who grows up in musical surroundings and a boy who shares her dreams of popularizing syncopated dance music. Their absorbing romance, marriage and separation with ultimate reunion are all played against a vivid background of New Orleans and Chicago life from pre-World War days to the present time. The action is enhanced with a notable presentation of dance music, negro spirituals, old ragtime favorites, modern hit tunes, blues—a lavish array from symphony to swing. More than thirty songs or melodies are heard and some of the leading top dance band leader - instrumentalists are featured including Gene Krupa, Benny Goodman, Charlie Barnet, Alvino Ray, Joe Venuti, Jack Jenny and Harry James.
