LOCAL BOY TELLS OF OLD LAND

Clarence Finley Does Some Travelling—Meets Rupert People —Plenty of Food

Sergeant Clarence Finley, having arrived overseas a few weeks ago for service with the Royal Air Force, writes an interesting letter to Joe Scott describing visits to various parts of England and Scotland including London, Edinburgh and Glasgow. He also tells of meeting former Prince Rupert friends in the Old Land. While food is pretty drastically rationed in England these days, the local boy suggests that there is little in the way of real hardship in this regard.

The letter is as follows:

"I arrived overseas about three weeks ago and am now at a signal school doing a refresher course. We are about 9 miles from the nearest town, surrounded with farm houses, barns, sheep, horses, pigs, chickens and cows.

"I've only been here for three days as I was in a pool for three weeks, two of which we hung around going through stores for our new flying suits, oxygen masks, etc. and we also had 6 days leave. We have the air forde battle dress to wear around the station. It's very co..fortable and has no brass to shine, which pleases everyone.

"I went to London for a few days of my leave and saw Big Ben, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, London Bridge, Buckingham Palace and several other points of interest. We got free train tickets so I went to Edinburgh, Glasgow and Loch Lomond. I was through Edinburgh Castle and saw the Scottish Memorial which is a beauty spot of the castle. Holyrood Palace was also interesting. I saw the bed in which Mary Queen of Scots slept. It's a big clumsy thing probably 6 feet 6 inches wide and 7 or 8 feet long with a big drape hanging on the top and on the sides.

"The last day there we went up the river a bit on the bus and saw the Firth of Forth Bridge. In Glasgow we saw a museum where they had mummy coffin lids, old war weapons from Egypt and almost everything under the sun. I was particularly interested in the stuffed animals and birds brought from Africa and Australia. The mechanical department would drive an engineer nuts. Small oil refineries, ship engines, locomotives, power plants and many other mechanical devices built to scale about the size of a kitchen table. One of those oil refineries with about a thousand small pipe fittings would make an attractive window in the store, Joe.

"The food isn't too bad in camp. We get lots to eat although there isn't much variety. Chocolate is rationed to one bar a week for servicemen and I don't think civilians can get any yet, although I understand they will get it rationed soon. The first meal I had in a restaurant we got no butter on our bread or no sugar in our tea. I put a square of chocolate in the tea and this helped take the bitter taste out somewhat. Since then there seems to be a little butter and sugar in the cafes. We get butter twice a day and tea (with sugar) twice a day also. At lunch we do without. At Edinburgh I had chicken dinner in a cafe and it cost 4/3 (about $1.00). It wasn't too bad but I had to hunt for a few minutes before I found the chicken.

"I met Doug Stalker, formerly of the Rupert Fire Hall, when on leave. He is with a B. C. tank division. I saw Jean Ritchie in London in the Canadian War Office. She used to live right beside us in Rupert until about 8 years ago. She likes England and I don't suppose she will ever be back to live in Canada.

"Some fellow just came in cursing the pigs for chewing the collar off his shirt. He evidently had it drying on the grass when the pig found it. A few others are around a fire boiling an egg which was laid in a field about half an hour ago. They are rationed and are looked upon as luxuries. If we get real hungry we're going to see how home cooked chicken tastes (camp style).

"There are lots of service canteens around the country and we can always get lots to eat when off the station. Tea and coffee costs but 1 or 2 pence and that sure beats Canada."

NEW FILM IN MAKING

LONDON, July 10: (CP)—A new film in the making in Britain, "We're Not Weeping," is about the girls in the Auxiliary Territorial Service and is the first feature to be made with seven leading ladies treated as of equal rank. They're all stars. "There has not been the slightest dispute," said Director Adrian Brunel as he directed the girls.

In one scene the stars were crowded into a tiny set representing a section of a railway carriage. They ranged from the extreme fairness of Joyce Howard and the darker blonde of Lilli Palmer to the brunette charm of Barbara Waring with Rosamund Johns, whose hair has a reddish tinge, midway between. The other girls playing their part as A. T. S. are Joan Gates, Jean Gillie and Joan Greenwood.

For the shooting of this picture there was no fuss and bother about costumes because the seven stars appear throughout the picture in khaki service dress and the service scenes are taken in actual camps.

Many real members of the A. T. S. were selected for minor roles and the seven stars spent a week in uniform under actual service conditions at one of the principal training centres of the A. T. S. to get the "feel" of the service.

TEA CAR IS HERE

A notable acquisition to the war services facilities of the Young Men's Christian Association in Prince Rupert is the imposing tea wagon vehicle which was delivered yesterday from Petawawa, Ontario, and was driven up yesterday afternoon by C. F. Leslie, the local supervisor, from the railway yards to Third Avenue in front of the Y. M. C. A. hut where it is now attracting considerable attention, being the first motorvehicle of its type ever seen here.

The tea car is going into operation here at once. It will minister primarily to the men of the forces at such places as its need seems apparent but will also be available for all types of war service even for the benefit of civilians if required.

The tea wagon delivered here is the first one to have been used in Canada, having been dedicated in the fall of 1940 by the Governor General.
