LINK WITH OLD DAYS

Career of John Flewin Associated With B. C. Frontier Times

PORT SIMPSON, Sept. 10:—Rich in experiences of varied character in the colorful pioneer days of old British Columbia was the career of John Flewin, a resident of Port Simpson for a quarter of a century or more in the course of that career, who died a few days ago in Victoria. This stalwart old timer, who passed away suddenly at the age of eighty-nine years, had the distinction of being the last remaining native son born in old Fort Camosun (now Victoria). He knew from travel on foot, by packtrain and in canoe, before the days of modern transportation, all parts of the province. Starting with the redoubtable Sir James Douglas, he rubbed shoulders with many whose names are household words in early history of the province. He was in charge of the investigation of two of the most famous murder cases by Indians on Vancouver Island. He started out as a printer with the old Victoria Colonist newspaper and was for years government agent for all of Northern British Columbia with headquarters at Port Simpson.

Mr. Flewin, whose parents came out from England to engage in farming around Fort Camosun under the aegis of the Hudson Bay Co. could spin many a tale of those early days around Victoria including the experiences of the winter of 1862 which was the coldest in the history of the coast. Mr. Flewin used to tell why he quit the printing profession—because he sickened at the habit of the early printers of chewing tobacco and spitting the juice on the floor.

In any case, it was from that point that he commenced an arduous life of several years in the wilds by joining a Canadian Pacific Railway survey party locating a route through Southern British Columbia to the coast. A year or so in the interior and Mr. Flewin then returned to Victoria where he worked for a while in a sash and door factory for the grandfather of Charles Hayward, now a High School teacher in Prince Rupert.

The year 1880 found Mr. Flewin joining the provincial police and, after a while on Vancouver Island, where he was identified with the solving of Indian murder cases and promoted to the rank of sergeant, he was dispatched north to Hazelton to deal with trouble among the Indians at that point. This culminated in the appointment of government agent at Port Simpson, with jurisdiction from Queen Charlotte Sound to the Alaska boundary including the Queen Charlotte Islands and Omineca, which position he held for 20 years.

C.C.F. HALL IS OPENED

New Structure at Prince George In Use Though Not Completed

PRINCE GEORGE, Sept. 10:—Although not completed, the new C.C.F. Hall on Fourth Avenue near Brunswick Street was opened to the public on Labor Day, when the C.C.F. Club held a dance. The official opening will take place at a later date.

This attractively designed new building has a dancing surface 82 by 36 feet of Coast fir. A special finish will be given this fine floor.

The overall measurements of the building are 82 feet long by 48 feet wide. It is of frame structure, specially built against cold, and has a full basement in which a hot-air furnace will be installed. Adequate ventilation is also assured.

On the main floor at the south end is a stage. In an addition on the east side to the main building are cloakrooms, ladies' room, kitchen and lunchroom.

Entrance is made through a small reception room at the northeast corner.

The building is well lighted by large windows during the day and many electrical fixtures at night.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

September 10, 1917

Ald. George Casey is back from Alice Arm where he was engaged in development work on his mineral claims, having been away for several weeks. He reports that several new finds have been made in that mining area and is enthusiastic about the immediate future of the camp. Ald. Casey will make a trip to Vancouver soon to carry out certain negotiations on behalf of Alice Arm prospectors.

Hon. John Oliver, minister of agriculture, after a tour of central interior farming areas, arrived in the city on last night's train, accompanied by A. M. Manson, M.L.A. for Omineca, and E. D. Barrow, M.L.A. for Chilliwack.

The marriage of Miss Helen Thompson and Howard White took place at the Anglican Church this morning with Rev. Canon G. A. Rix officiating. The attendants of the couple were Miss Kathleen Lake and Chester Poole. After the ceremony, there was a wedding party at the Ark. Later the couple left for the south on a honeymoon trip following which they will return to the city to take up residence on Fifth Avenue East.

WOMEN'S WORLD

About 4,500,600 U.S. women are in industrial war employment now as compared with 1,400,000 in 1941.

It is now ILLEGAL to HOARD scrap steel
or UNUSABLE machinery

The Steel Controller has ordered that, after September 15, 1942, no person may retain in his possession scrap iron or steel weighing a total of 500 pounds or more unless he has a permit.

(For the purposes of the new regulations, scrap metal includes machinery, structural steel, or any other article or commodity containing iron or steel, which is not serving an immediate vital purpose.)

The order also provides:

That anyone, coming into possession after September 15 of scrap iron or steel weighing 500 pounds or more, must dispose of it within 20 days.

That any person having a valid reason for not disposing of scrap metal as scrap metal or who believes that it can serve some essential purpose, must send in a report by September 15 to the Used Goods Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Lumsden Building, Toronto. His report must reveal the exact description, quantity, and location of his scrap metal.

The provisions of the order do not apply to scrap dealers who are already subject to previous orders; nor do they affect metal fabricators and processors who are in legal possession of metal to be used in manufacturing.

A copy of the order, S.C. 16, may be obtained from the Steel Controller, Department of Munitions and Supply, Ottawa.

Infractions of the new regulations are subject to a fine of up to $5,000, or imprisonment of up to five years, or both fine and imprisonment.

SPORT CHAT

It is only fitting for a man who has been around Lord's for so many years—63—as James (Jimmy) Cannon, that he should have a chance to be in complete charge of world cricket headquarters in Britain. Twice this year he's had that chance because the regular secretary, Sir Pelham Warner, has been ill. Cannon and H. D. G. (Shrimp) Leveson-Gower are the only survivors who have worked with the last four secretaries. This means something, because just one of the four, Sir Francis Lacey, was secretary for 28 years.

It was lawn tennis and not cricket which first brought Cannon to Lord's. He started as ball boy for the string of tennis courts which fringed the cricket field. Now he is 75, a smallish man, cheery, rubicund but still active. He's seen every test match, University or Eton-Harrow match at Lord's in the last 60 years with the exception of 1939 when he was ill. Jimmy holds Dr. W. G. Grace, the old time cricketer who is to British sport what Babe Ruth is to baseball, was the greatest of them all. He's full of stories about W. G. who died in 1915, and says if later batsmen like Jack Hobbs and Don Bradman had had to bat on such poor wickets as old W. G., they would never have done as well as they did. "The 'old man' didn't bat on a billiard table, I can tell you," says Cannon.
