And Now Java and Rangoon . . .

Java and Rangoon are gone and there is little we can bert & McCaffery's were the winsay of comfort in regard to the whole sorry South Pacific ners. The losers were Chinese picture. Like Hong Kong and Singapore, we had hoped Youth Association, Steel Workers against hope for Java and Burma. In spite of what a sense and Royal Canadian Air Force reof realism might have suggested to us, many had hoped that something might turn the tide in our favor, although of Signals won two games to one just what that something might have been none could over Armour Salvage. very definitely say. Possibly, through all these bitter experiences we have been having these last few months, we may gain something in our morale by realizing that miracles aren't happening in this war on which we are embarked-that something just doesn't turn up. We have been having a great lesson in the necessity of facing the facts instead of indulging in wishful thinking and complacency both of which might well prove fatal to us. Possibly the most of us have at last made up our minds that we have a hard and determined enemy to fight and that a grim task lies ahead which will require moremuch more-resourcefulness, effort and sacrifice than we have displayed thus far. There is no doubt now that this war is going to come closer home to us, possibly in more ways than one. We might as well make up our minds to that here and now.

There is at least some comfort still to be derived from the trend of the Russo-German war. Things in that arena appear to be still going very definitely in our favor. Today's dispatches indicate a continuation of Russian successes in spite of stubborn German resistance. The battle also continues, apparently, to go well for the Russians in their efforts to drive the Germans away from Moscow, Leningrad and the Crimea.

Local Defences . . .

Prince Rupert people are justified in asking for more adequate measures for their defence and protection being provided. They are wondering why the authorities should be so slow to move in evacuating the Japanese from these vulnerable coast defence areas. Others are impatient at delay in meeting the civilian protection requirements. What conditions exist in connection with our military preparations is, of course, a matter of opinion and, since the military authorities will not say what they think, it is difficult indeed for us to express ourselves. To the most of us there seem many things that could be done that are not being done.

When we make demands of the authorities, we should remember that there is the national and the whole Imperial and Allied picture to be considered. When there is so much to be done and so little time in which to do it, it may be vain to expect that Prince Rupert will get all she thinks she needs. We might as well realize right now that time is short, the enemy is swift and strong, and anything that is done for us should and must be with more than a mere local view in sight. In other words Prince Rupert people, in their expectations and their demands, must now consider something more than their own hides and think of things in a far bigger way. Crapper Good soldiers and good citizens under fire or threat of Copp fire do not win wars by thinking only of their own safety.

And, possibly some of the people who are doing the most criticizing, are doing very little in a personal way to help either the community or their own selves. Those of the A.R.P. have formed some opinions along those

There has been a surprising lack of activity throughout the past week in the North African quarter. An ominous silence also pervades southeastern Europe. Spring is on the way and so are big doings in a military way. Who knows where the next blow will fall-and who knows who will deliver it? There are not a few who are confident that a big smash by the United Nations against the Japanese in the Pacific area is due. It is not reasonable to expect that Japan is to continue having things all her own way.
