Are We Working for Victory? . . .

We have not started yet on the formidable job of winning the war. By and large and to all intents and purposes we have so far been losing. However, our leaders seem to be showing renewed confidence these days and, although admitting a long, grim task ahead, are quite sure of ultimate victory.

Certainly Canada has suffered little from the war to date. We have lost some brave men, it is true, although nothing like the volume of the first Great War. Few of us at home have even been called upon to sacrifice, much less fight or work unduly. Although danger to our own shores becomes increasingly possible, as far as feeling it in a personally physical way is concerned, it has been to date a very pleasant war.

Two years ago Prime Minister Churchill talked about blood, sweat, toil and tears. Canadians—you and we—have had little, if any, of that yet. We have done little enough yet to deserve victory. But our turn is coming and we had better steel ourselves to change our ways, to work and to sacrifice, to do it soon.

Here in Prince Rupert, at long last, we should soon be really knowing there is a war on.

Financing Our Own Protection . . .

The government has suggested that it is time the individual communities themselves are doing something about assuming their own direct responsibility for A.R.P.—civilian protection. Our own member, T. D. Pattullo, suggests that something should be done about it forthwith, that we should not let ourselves depend entirely upon the governments in the matter. While the government has, no doubt, some responsibility, there is also virtue in the stand that, if people will not put up dollars and efforts in protection of their own homes and families, they can hardly criticize the authorities for failing to do so.

BANQUET IS HELD

Cribbage and Bridge League Trophies Presented At Gathering Last Night

Presentation of the trophies of the 1941-42 season featured the annual banquet of the Prince Rupert Cribbage and Whist League which was held last night in the Eagles' Hall with President Robert McKay in the chair and about sixty persons in attendance. Enlivened by song and music, the proceedings were much enjoyed by all from start to finish.

The presentations were as follows:

- Cribbage League championship cup—Smiles Cafe, received by Knut Slatta.
- Cribbage League runner-up cup—Savoy Hotel, received by I. Moe.
- Tip Top inter-league cup—Pipe Fitters, received by J. Slavin.
- Bridge League Championship cup—Cow Boys, received by John Karososky.
- Bridge League runner-up cup—Grotto, received by George Howe.
- High individual cribbage score cup—Andrew Ronald.
- High individual bridge score cup—George Howe.

In opening the proceedings, after full justice had been done to an excellent banquet spread, Mr. McKay welcomed all present, noting that cribbage, rather than bridge, players, were predominant. He referred to the good fellowship which had been engendered by the competition of the leagues.

Fred Wermig, the secretary-treasurer, made a brief report on what he said had been a very successful season with eight teams operating in each league.

Another speaker was Bert Morgan who referred to the value of sport and healthy competition to the community. There was also the social value and the spirit of pulling together.

On behalf of the services Tommy Richardson, for the navy, and Les Hamlin, for the army, were heard.

The musical program was featured by vocal solos by Private Lynch, accompanied by Clare Davis. Community singing was enjoyed and there was a recitation by Robert McKay and step dancing by Art Dyer.
