Canadian Jewellers' Association presented a cheque for $109,-000 to Wing Commander J. L. Hurley, officer commanding Rockcliffe Air Station. The money was raised from profits from jewellry sales across Canada, and is known as the Jewellers' Hurricane fund. Wing Commander Hurley later presented the cheque to Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance.

Stockings Off and Sun-Ray Treatment on For Belies With Wartime Restrictions

By ALLAN NICKLESON Canadian Press Staff Writer LONDON, April 24: 7-Milady thout silk stockings or limb take-up will show golden legs as the vogue this summer.

Restrictions on cosmetics and recent slashing of coupons have combined to rush femininity to beauty salons to have winterwhite legs tanned to a golden brown through sun-ray treatment. London west end shops and mas-The vogue really came about

The Board of Trade and the cosmetic trade have been at odds over the whole business since an unprecedented rush for "stock'- ! ing" creams followed the clothes LIVERPOOL, April 24, 9-James rational cut. Meanwhile, beauty O'Kane, a ship's fireman who shops with tanning facilities have swam ashore through heavy seas captured the leg trade. when a trawler grounded on rocks

The cosmetic group believes that easing of regulations to assure a sufficient supply of "leg do" would help bolster feminine morale, as does sale of the three main beauty aids - powder, lipstick and face cream.

Wartime Glamor The Trade Board has rejected the urgent pleas on the ground it is allowing the maximum possible make-up for wartime glamor. If the cosmetic industry considers painting of legs a necessity, it should cut down on the facial sunplies and use some of the ingredients towards leg paint.

The cosmetic trade claims this course is impossible unless restrictions are raised. There just isn't enough supply to mee the demand, it says.

Now, with the first round lost, the cosmetic industry has passed the torch to the women. They should take up the hue and cry, it believes, while the blushes for their naked limbs match the color of their lip rouge.

CANADIAN NAVY SAVES 38 LIVES

Battered by mounting seas, the grounded after section of an Allied merchant freighter lies grounding on the reefs off Sable Island, near Canada's coast. In a daring exploit of seamanship and at the cost of one navy man's life, 38 seamen were rescued from the wreck. Before these photographs were taken by a patrol plane of the R.C.A.F. the forward part of the ship had broken away carrying 10 men to their death in the icy waters. The upper photo was taken before the rescue. Below the abandoned ship is shown barely visible above the surging waters.
