ELEPHANTS HELPED

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 11 (CP)—Circus elephants were enlisted in the Norfolk, Va., scrap drive. The Office of War Information reports they helped move the junked jalopies and other materials to assembly points for shipment to the steel mills.

EARLY GREENLAND

Greenland was a republic until 1261, when the colonists swore allegiance to the king of Norway.

SPORT CHAT

British lightweight champion Eric Boon and Jake Kilrain, former welterweight king, were mighty mad at each other when they stepped into the ring of London't Queensbury Club. Taunts had been hurled since Boon knocked out Kilrain a couple of weeks earlier with a body blow that the loser declared was low. So they put on a terrific battle in the return match but Boon proved without doubt that he is the master. He couldn't quite put the Scot away but he sent him to the canvas eight times during the 10-round tilt. Victory put Boon in line for a return watch with Ernie Roderick, welter titlist who gained a triumph when the two last met two years ago. Against Kilrain, a crafty ringman, Boon gave his best display in two years and critics agreed the Scot soaked up enough punishment to beat three men. Boon weighed 144 pounds nine above the lightweight limit, while Kilrain weighed in at 149.

On the same card, Jack Hyams, a London cabbie who has been boxing for 20 years, showed that experience can beat youth when he took a 10-round verdict from Pat O'Connor, Irish middleweight. In another match, Len Beyons of Wales, who in 1939 was the first soldier boxer to appear in a London ring during this wear, suffered a cut right eye in his bout and the decision went to Jackie Rankin.

Un at Liverpool, the leading contender for the British lightweight crown handed a member of the merchant navy his first defeat in 23 professional bouts. Conceding three rounds, Ronnie James of Swansea outpointed Jimmy Malloy of Liverpool in a 10-round affair that was greeted with a mixed reception. For Malloy, it was a step up the ladder. He put on a grandstand finish in the last round after facing a fistic barrage from one of the best lightweights Britain has produced in years. The finish all but cut a lead James piled up in the early heats. Sgt. Freddie Mills is British and Empire lightheavyweight champ and finds that being in the R.A.F. is a good way to keep in shape. The Bournemouth Bomber visited London on leave from his station in Wales and said he had taken part in more than 200 exhibition bouts throughout the country since the war began.

"I get a good workout that way," he added. "I take on as many as four men at one session and have met some good ones among them."

CURLING IS UNDER WAY

Ham and Egg Bonspiel at Smithers Off to Early Start

SMITHERS, Dec. 11 — Getting away to the earliest start in its history of fifteen years of curling the "Ham and Egg" bonspiel was started here on Wednesday evening by the Smithers Curling Club. Fourteen rinks are entered in the competition, two of these being composed of ladies and skipped by Mrs. E. Loude and Mrs. Hickenbotham who think that the chance to win such practical prizes as ham and eggs are too good to pass up.

Frank Newbery has had charge of making the ice and has done a perfect job so that the curlers had excellent ice to start their first competition off with.

By starting so early in the season it should give ample time in which to play for the various cups and other competitions.

The club has lost a number of its old time skips and other regular players during the past year but newcomers have filled up the ranks and it is expected that as many or more curlers will be seen in action here this year as in other years.

Announcement

Restrictions placed upon us by the Wartime Prices & Trade Board compel us to announce we shall be unable to put on our "Christmas Special" this year.

This practice of sending a small box of smoked fish, typical of the dominant industry of Prince Rupert, has become increasingly popular and we are very sorry we shall have to disappoint our many customers this year.

After the war, we hope we shall again be able to make this special Christmas offer available to our many friends.
