Halibut Fishing to Resume Soon-New Cannery at Port Edward-Americans Given Privileges

With less than a month to go now before the 1943 halibut season gets under way, the local fleet is beginning to bestir itself and preparatory work is under way on many of the vessels. The opening date on April 15 should see quite a substantial number of them away. As far as can be learned, no arrangements have yet been settled upon the matter of curtailment. Whether or not it will be general free-for-all with no regulation of trips and distribution of landings appears to be very uncertain. Meanwhile, the market situation appears to be quite favorable and there should be some good prices. There may be some embarrassment as to what to do with the fish in the event of gluts occurring due to lack of curtailment regulation.

The appointment of G. W. Nickerson of Prince Rupert as a member of the International Fisheries Commission continues to provoke a good deal of discussion. Vancouabout a Prince Rupert man being appointed. However, facts and figures still show that, while some of the boats may have moved south for the time being on account of unusual war conditions here, this is still the principal halibut port of the British Columbia coast. This, of course, is the reason why Mr. Nickerson was appointed.

Some of the earlier hand trollers should soon be getting out for ard garden flat is 3 inches deep, 18 spring salmon. By this time of the year there is usually some of this fish on the local market.

Cloyah Bay and Creek is still proving a popular venue for steelhead fishing and quite a few of the anglers have been finding their way out there of late. Some mighty fine fish have been caught.

The pile driving for the main building of Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. new cannery at Port Edward has been completed and the contractor, Robert O. N. Ellison, is now driving for the warehouse portion. For this Mr. Ellison is using his own driver but the water pile driver has been rented from Farris & Nash. The erection of the cannery buildings is well under way and will be completed by the end of April. The main building measures 70 by 200 feet.

The Fisheries Department has been authorized to grant licences to American fishing vessels on the perly spaced if whitened with tal-Pacific Coast engaging in fishing for ling cod, grayfish and sharks during 1943, entitling them to certain privileges in British Columbia this week at Ottawa. Similar privileges were granted in 1942.

Mariners are advised by the Department of Transport that the fog ala m at Langara Island lightstation is again in commission.

INDOOR PLANTING

One can nudge Nature and get a head start for a garden by growing plants indoors for outdoor ver seems to be quite annoyed planting. Four to six weeks can be gained by sowing seeds indoors over those outdoors.

The necessary equipment for seed sowing indoors and transplanting is: Soil screen, tamper, seed flat, clay pots, trowel, wooden labels, glass for covering flats, dibble, common spoon.

While pots or pans can be used to prepare the seed bed, wooden flats are preferable since they do not dry out so readily. The standinches long and 12 inches wide. This size is practical because it is easy to handle even when filled with earth. The bottom of the flat can be in one piece with holes bored in it for drainage purposes or it can be a slat bottom with spaces for drainage.

It is not necessary to have rich soil in which to plant seeds indoors, but it must be well broken up and porus, to allow water and air to pass through it readily. Such a soil can be made by mixing equal parts of beach or builders' sand and a good loam or garden soil.

A screen or sieve, is helpful in breaking up the soil particles of the desired size. In planting, tiny seeds can be handled easier when they are mixed with ten times the quantity of sand. Unless mixed with sand in this proportion such tiny seeds are apt to be planted too thickly. Also small dark colored seeds, or those which are the same color as the soil, are more easily seen and pro-cum powder before planting.

In general, procedure for seed planting is to first make a shallow trench with the corner of a under order-in-council announced hoe alongside the string which marks the row. Tear off a corner of the seed packet, hold it open with the hand, and tap the side gently with the forefinger of the same hand, letting the seeds fall out thinly as you move along the row. By this method one can control the amount of seeds dropped.

Remember to always avoid waste. One should sow seeds thinly.

Indoor planting is tricky for amateurs. It is better to buy small plants later on, unless you are ready to risk disappointment.
