What is your share in this war? Doing your daily job—in factory, in store, in home? Fine! Canada needs men and women who work for victory in countless ways.

But how does your job compare with that of the sailor on a corvette—an airman in a pomber ?

Hundred-to-one it's more pleasant—and more profitable!

Nothing you can do can measure up with his difficult task! But you can bridge a portion of the gap by denying yourself some of the pleasure, some of the profit of civilian life.

And with the money you save by this carefully planned, day-in and day-out self-denial, you can afford to buy Victory Bonds.

Soon, you will be asked to buy again. Stop -before you say "I can't afford any this time." Look—at the money you still spend on things which aren't absolutely necessary. Listento the boys in the ships, in the planes, in the tanks, who say "we know the folks at home won't let us down."
