

Dooryard Fence Loses to Truck In Tug-of-war

And Eleven-year-old Dick Edgar Goes to Hospital When Struck by Flying Woodwork.

People have been known to be struck by a great variety of moving objects but not many outside the cyclone area of Kansas have had the experience of being laid low by a moving fence as was 11-year-old Dick Edgar Tuesday night.

Dick, the son of Mrs. E. Edgar, Letourneau Apartments, was playing with two other children in Sixth Street near Fraser about 8:30 and, in the course of their play, one of the children tied one end of a piece of rope to a truck that was standing at the curb and the other end o a fence across the sidewalk.

When Driver Peter Postuk unaware that his truck was attached to anything, climbed into it and began to drive away, the truck took a section of the fence along with it and the flying woodwork struck the Edgar boy on the head, knocking him unconscious.

He was rushed immediately by ambulance to the hospital where it was thought at first that he may have been suffering from a concussion but it was reported this morning that he had been taken home and his condition was not serious.

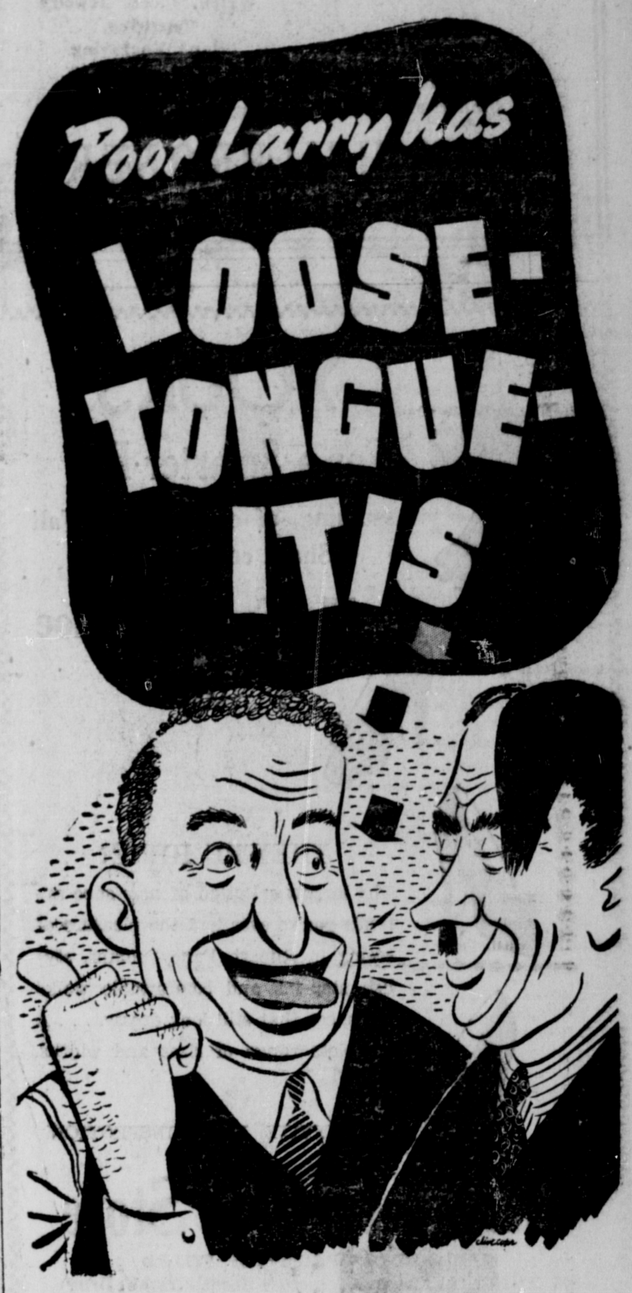
*Made supreme sacrifice.



LARRY was a normal, quiet chap until quite recently. Then, suddenly, he contracted Loose Tongue-Itis. Now his tongue is wagging constantly . . . passing on everything he hears. Have you been exposed to this dangerous wartime disease? Symptom is an uncontrollable desire to tell everything you know. Particularly violent attacks occur when you learn some vital information about troop movements, war production, ship sailings, etc. If you are a victim, don't despair . . . there is a sure cure that you can start taking right away. As soon as you feel the urge to reveal some vital information coming on, start saying to yourself, "What have I done today to help win the war?" Keep repeating this over and over to yourself until the attack passes. This treatment is guaranteed to cure anyone of Loose-Tongue-Itis.

DON, Oct. 28 (CP) — "No division can be made be- hysterical amnesia and ngering," says the medical Lancet in an article en- "The Refusal to Remem-loss of memory is accept- the community as illness than carelessness," it points out, "amnesia is to be found in soldiers who have overstayed their leave."

"The origin is emotional distress. The patient is unable to face his situation and walks out on it. He is probably aware of his actions and his behaviour appears normal to others, provided he is not interrogated.

"After wandering for eight hours or so, the need for food or shelter forces him to realize that his behaviour has not only not solved his original worry but has created the additional problem of explaining his recent conduct.

"It is probable that the amnesia develops only when he decides to give himself up when he is confronted with authority."

The Lancet says that medical men who conducted research in 40 R.A.F. ground staff cases, suggested that amnesia never was far from conscious levels and was cured by simple persuasion.

"But," it adds, "because a hysterial sympton can be removed by persusion are we to conclude that the patient is a malingerer? If the patient can develop paralysis of memory or any other function is not th proof that he should not be judged by normal standards of behaviour?"
