City Lock-up Situation . . .

A deplorable state of affairs exists as far as jail accommodation at the city lock-up is concerned, attention to it having been drawn in a special article published yesterday in the Daily News. The police authorities themselves are far from satisfied and the matter was the subject of a special conference last week between Commissioner of Police T. W. S. Parsons and Mayor W. M. Watts.

The city lock-up was none too good to meet even normal requirements of the old community here as it was before the war boom. Now, with increased jail population, the situation has become accentuated and the need of something being done to remedy it with a minimum of delay is apparent.

Improved jail accommodation is evidently one of the first matters that will have to receive the attention of the new city council which is being elected today.

Defects of Capitalism . . .

Public pronouncements of late by many of the more vocal leaders of the C.C.F. leave little room for doubt that, as far as they are concerned, socialism is what Canada needs, and must have if postwar conditions are not to sink to the levels reached during the prewar depression says The Times-Review of Fort Erie, Ontario.

We are among those who think these gentlemen are wrong. If there were no other reasons, having had our wages fixed, being "frozen" to our present job, forced for a considerable length of time to accept pants with neither watch pocket nor cuffs, and so on ad nauseam—all by decrees of government-appointed officials—would be sufficient to antagonize us towards socialism. The sample of its operation which has been in effect as a wartime measure convinces us that not very many Canadians would be happy in a fully socialistic state.

But the reader may ask, is the alternative a return to large-scale unemployment with a million of our citizens dependent on public charity for their daily bread? That, in our humble opinion, is not the only alternative.

So-called capitalism is not quite the hard and fast system some assume it to be. Under it there has been enough flexibility in its operation to evolve different results over the years, and to create a political economy in one country very much worse than that developed in another. History shows that capitalism in a democracy is very bad only when a majority of the citizens allow a minority to take undue advantage of its privileges. In short, it functions as the people, according to their degree of enlightenment, permit it to function.

Now, in what manner will a socialistic system change our mode and standards of living? One thing is certain, the individual citizen will be regimented in almost everything he does—including where he is to work and what is to be his reward. But will those charged with the responsibility of government in that day be so all-wise as to make socialism work without a vestige of that injustice or abuse of its privileges, such as occurred under capitalism? If so, are not such paragons of political wisdom capable of safeguarding the interests of the majority against the greed of the minority under a capitalistic economy?

After all, the evils of capitalism through the ages have been due largely to man's covetousness; his lust for power and riches. Human nature, rather than the system, has been at fault. Unless restrained; that darker side of human nature will manifest itself also in a socialistic form of society. The old system is not so inherently vile and irredeemable that its extirpation is the only promise of a better life for the average man and his family. Let those manifold defects of capitalism, which are so frequently cited, be remedied first before any revolutionary, and, perhaps disastrous experiments are tried.

NAVY SHOW GOES WELL

Chattie Hams in Opening Stand of Three Nights Entertainment.

Newly organized concert party of H.M.C.S. Chatham presented its first show last night in the naval drill hall before an appreciative audience of service men—the army predominating. The program consisted of dancing, songs, charades and skits in good variety and mostly in the burlesque manner. With direction by Chester Le Maistre of the Young Men's Christian Association war services and Lieut. Don Adams, public relations officer of H.M.C.S. Chatham, the program lasted about one hour and was presented in attractive stage settings. Many of the numbers drew generous plaudits of approval from the audience.

This effort of "Chattie Hams" has been made to provide activity for those taking part and entertainment of the service personnel and their friends and has achieved the objectives very well indeed. As more practise is achieved, the show will be better knitted together. Meanwhile much credit is due to all persons concerned.

The show will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night and, even by then, much improvement may be anticipated.

The stage is an ambitious portable frame attractive in blue and grey with large rope and anchor along sides and over top, having been ingeniously designed and built under the direction of Lieut. Robert Weller.

Three of the outstanding artists with the Chattie Hams are Able Seaman Len Hill, with his tap dancing, S/A Sid Moore, with songs and banjo music in the George Formby manner, and Cook Lovejoy, vocal and guitar. The Can-Can scene with Able Seaman Guy, Able Seaman Terry, Leading Seaman Dennison, Able Seaman Conrad, Able Seaman Dudar and Leading Seaman Hill, typical of this sort of show, went over well. Another highlight was the dialogue of the Chinese woodcutter by Lieut. Adams and Chester LeMaistre. H.M.C.S. Chatham concert band, under the direction of Chief Petty Officer Sunderland, was effective in the accompanying music throughout the show.

The program was as follows:

Overture, "Hyperlan," H.M.C.S. Chatham Band.
Aladdin, the Sound man, Bandsman Darch.
Chorus, "Chattie Hams Are Here Again," Able Seaman Billinger, Able Seaman Chamberlain, L/S Livingstone and Writer MacIvor.
Admiral Skit, Lieut. Adams.
Chorus, "Men of the King's Navy," Cook Lovejoy, soloist.
Mock court-martial, Defaulters Scene Master at Arms Hill, Able Seaman Blazo, Able Seaman Smithson and Petty Officer Leidzwick.

Four Inch Gun Chorus.
Devil Dance Tap, Able Seaman Len Hill.

Can-Can scene, Able Seaman Guy, Able Seaman Terry, Leading Seaman Dennison, Able Seaman Conrad, Able Seaman Dudar and Leading Seaman Hill.

Vocal and ukelele, "I Wonder Who's Under Her Balcony Now," S/A Sid Moore.

Humorous travesty on "Dangerous Dan McGrew" L/S Livingstone and Writer MacIvor.

Vocal solo, "You'll Never Know," Cook Lovejoy.

Vocal and ukelele, "Aunt Maggie's Remedy," S/A Sid Moore.

"The Artist," Petty Officer Ban-Serrian and Writer MacIvor.

Vocal and steel guitar, "Down by the Railroad Track," Cook Lovejoy.

Skit, "I've Been Framed," Stoker Ram.

Russian Dance, Able Seaman Len Hill and chorus.

Drunk scene, Able Seaman Rizzo.

Chinese wood cutter, Lieut. Adams and Chester LeMaistre.

As stage manager, Able Seaman Rumble performed an efficient job.

Electrician Artificer Campbell was responsible for effective lighting.

Costumes for the Can Can were designed by Mrs. Luster.
