

HELP CHINA!

Chien Lee-Oo Mow

Be as Generous as Possible

Prince Rupert Campaign Opens Monday, August 23

On the Road From Mandalay

A resourceful Chinese refugee, toting his family and all his worldly goods in baskets slung across his shoulders, joins the great stream of refugees pouring into China from Burma to escape the Japanese invasion. More than 1,000,000 refugees have fled into China from Malaya, Burma, Thailand and other Japanese-occupied areas during the past months, adding to China's pressing refugee and relief burden created by over five years of war. Contribute to the national appeal of the Chinese war relief fund so that they may be able to continue to send help to gallant China.

"Chien lee, oo mow."

This phrase, often accompanying a Chinese gift, is from a famous Sung Dynasty poet and means: "Like a swan's feather sent for a thousand miles, this small gift bears a great significance."

Canadians who answer the current appeal of the Chinese War Relief Fund, which hopes this month to raise $1,000,000 across Canada for aid to China, might well append this poetic Oriental tag to their contributions.

There is no doubt as to Canadian admiration for the superb and tenacious spirit of our Chinese Allies. Now, through monetary donations, Canadians can tell the people of China: "We are proud of you. We are with you. Fight on! Chien lee, oo mow."

On her recent visit to Canada's capital, lovely little Madame Chiang Kai-shek, her black eyes glowing, said that Canadian sympathy and friendship meant much to her people. That sympathy and friendship can now be expressed in a practical way — through contributions to the Chinese War Relief Fund.

Chinese Farm Folk on the March

The Japanese strategy of making forays to coincide with the planting and harvesting seasons and of destroying farmers' homes, tools and livestock, forces many Chinese farm families to take to the road, seeking new homes further inside free China. The Chinese war relief fund helps to provide temporary shelter for the refugees and also aid in their rehabilitation.

There will be no house-to-house canvass in Prince Rupert.

Subscriptions will be received at any of the banks or at the Victory Loan Hut from next Monday until the end of the month, daily 2 to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Make cheques payable to Chinese War Relief Fund.

Remember this is a charity and your contributions will be exempt from income tax.
