Large Quantities of Halibut Still Pouring Into Prince Rupert—Heavier Pink Pack Down Coast Boosts Canned Salmon Total

Large vessels of the Puget Sound halibut fleet are continuing to pour their catches into Prince Rupert instead of making the additional five hundred mile run on to their home port of Seattle in view of the price ceiling, they now receive no additional remuneration for their fares. During the week ending yesterday well over a million pounds of halibut was again landed at Prince Rupert. The total for the week was 1,258,000 pounds of which 1,123,000 pounds was from American vessels and 135,000 pounds from Canadian. This brought the grand total of landings for the season to date up to 13,937,200 pounds including 9,446,000 pounds from American boats and 4,491,200 pounds from Canadian. Ceiling prices prevailed throughout the week—17.5c and 16c for American fish and 18.2c, 17, and 16c for Canadian. With the closing date for fishing in the western banks set for September 8, fishing in the meantime is expected to be even further accelerated and even heavier landings are being anticipated.

Lastest official reports from the Department of Fisheries show the total salmon pack for this season on the Naas and Skeena Rivers to be standing at 184,795 cases as compared with 227,010 cases in the corresponding period of last year. The sockeye pack on these two rivers is 49,254 cases in comparison with 66,790 cases; cohoes, 30,859 cases as against 31,186 cases; pinks, 88,278 cases compared with 104,896, and chums, 12,914 cases in comparison with 13,228 cases. For the entire District No. 2 the total pack this year is now 176,544 cases as compared with 113,921½ cases in 1942, the increase being due to a much greater pink pack from the seining areas down the coast in the southern end of the district. With the fishing being restricted as from this week-end in most parts of this area, canneries will be starting to close down as the packing season approaches its conclusion.

Married At Pt. Simpson

Prairie Couple United at Grace Church—To Reside Here

The service which united in marriage Marjorie Catherine, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Radley of Carroll, Manitoba, and Elvin Kingsley, son of Mrs. James Elliott and the late James Elliott of Carleton Place, Manitoba, was read by Rev. H. Wilding in the Port Simpson United Church on Monday of this week. The church was decorated with a background of ferns and blue delphiniums.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Dr. G. Fiddes, wore a white chiffon floor length gown, with shoulder length veil, and a pendant, a present from the groom. She carried roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Edith Radley was the bridesmaid and she wore an ankle length pink chiffon dress with shoulder length matching veil. She carried asters and gladioli.

John Hopkins was the groomsmen. Acting as ushers were Pat Forman and James Millan.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Mission School house and later the bridal party left for Prince Rupert on the Sunbeam III. The bride travelled in a blue dress and matching accessories.

The couple will reside at 1467 Sixth Avenue, Prince Rupert.

DRAMA IS EXPLOSIVE

"City Without Men" Coming Here Monday and Tuesday

Primarily devoted to the explosive drama of a woman's heart, with its wild longings storming into hair-raising action as she refuses to wait alone with her memories, Columbia's "City Without Men" comes next Monday and Tuesday to the Capitol Theatre here.

"City Without Men" is set in a prison town to which come the wives and sweethearts of innocent men and guilty, murderers, thieves, embezzlers. They have come to wait, some in quiet hope of a pardon of a miracle, some in defiant expectation of "springing" their men, one—a mother—in patient resignation at the tragic knowledge that her son will soon be "out," electrocuted for murder. These women, spurned by the "better" hotels in the town, assemble in the rooming house maintained by a woman whose husband has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Into this atmosphere of determination, of memories and longings, comes Linda Darnell, as a school teacher whose fiancée has been falsely accused and jailed. She works in a laundry in order to pay fees to a lawyer, hoping that he can prove the boy's innocence.

Michael Duane, stage and radio player making his screen debut, is cast opposite Miss Darnell as the boy who had looked forward to his appointment as an ensign in the United States Navy and who, the day of Pearl Harbor, petitions for permission to enter the war. Edward Buchanan appears as a shyster lawyer and others in the stellar cast are Sara Allgood, Glenda Farrell, Leslie Brooks and Doris Dudley.
