A Flying Fortress dishes out six bombs while barely dodging exploding anti-aircraft shells ahead and beneath its nose as it plows through cloudy skies over Axis installations in Sicily. This spectacular picture was snapped by Tech.-Sergt. E. H. Dobson, of Key West, Florida.

FINE WAR FILM HERE

"Immortal Sergeant" is Story Of Libyan Battle

From a tar-flung field of battle there comes a stirring story in "Immortal Sergeant," which has Libya as its locale, and which opened today at the Capitol Theatre.

Starring Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara, "Immortal Sergeant" is a picture whose authenticity and execution matches its magnitude theme. The timeliness of the film-focussed on the crucial battle fields of North Africacoupled with its romantic appeal, puts it on a high plane.

"Immortal Sergeant" is the inspiring story of an indomitable band of fighters who conquer the enemy and elements. Their leader is the sergeant of the title, but it is the inner battle of the corporal which gives the film its key. Portrayed by Fonda, the corporal "finds" himself amid the inferno of battle on the Libyan sands and emerges as an inspired leader when the death of the sergeant forces him to assume leadership of the patrol.

However, the film does not deal exclusively with the battle front. For in every story of a soldier there must be some indication of what he's thinking about-in "Immortal Sergeant" Fonda's thoughts quite naurally turn to home and his sweetheart, Maureen O'Hara. By an ingenious use of the "flash-Daily except Mon.... 10:45 p.m. back" device, the film gives a' definiteness and a body to those Daily except Sun..... 11:30 p.m. thoughts-and shows conclusively why this fighter for free dom can never give up the bat-

> Thomas Mitchell, in the title role, handles himself with charactertistic deftness, while Allyn Joslyn and Reginald Gardiner head the featured cast.
