The Battle of Russia . . .

We have been having our interest so deeply ab- previous game 1-0. The first sorbed in the Battle of Italy this past couple or weeks game ended in a deadlock. that we may not have been noticing so attentively what has been going on in Russia—the great advance that the Red Army has been making against the Nazis. Strategic points of utmost importance have been won back by the Russians these past few days. The latest has been Bryansk and Kiev seems to be the next major objective.

Such rapid progress is being made by the Soviets in reclaiming their land from the invaders that it is a passed ball. Kuntz, the Yanks' now quite conceivable the Germans may be driven out Crymble struck out seven. of Russia altogether. If they are able to regain their original frontiers, the question may be: how far be- together for their first run, in

The campaign between Russia and Germany is of singles and an error. There were the utmost importance and we would do well to keep no extra base hits. in touch with the progress of military events there which, had it not been for the fighting in Italy, we business, for of two players who would have been watching with the clearest of attention today.

Gloomy Forecast ...

It is easy to overestimate the effects of defeat on the German mind. For many Germans will be tempted to think not so much of the destruction of the Nazi hopes as of the triumphs that preceded it. The Nazis set out to conquer Europe and the German of the next generation will remind himself how nearly they succeeded; how little of Europe escaped their armies; on what narrow accidents important events depended; how skilfully they organized the economic life of most of the continent of Europe to serve their plans. It is true that the war came home to the German people as the last war never did but the Germans will persuade themselves that, with a little more skill and a little better luck, they would have won the war in the first two years before their cities and their factories had to suffer from our bombs. Not much, then, can be trusted in the future to the impressions left by defeat and disaster.

The Honor Roll...

There still seems to be some uncertainty as to just what is the purpose of the Daily News inaugurating a Roll of Honor for the men and women from Prince Rupert who are on active service in the war. The object is simply to compile, if possible, a complete list of all the men and women from here who are in active service in the war. There is no such complete list now. From time to time the names will be published in these columns. The details asked for are being carefully filed with a view to having authentic record for reference and use. We are asking Prince Rupert people to assist us by filling in the coupons which we publish from time to time and sending it to the office.

If any person wonders why a name in which they are interested is not in the list, it is because they have not sent it in. The Daily News is most anxious to have all the names and the roll complete.
