FIFTH ARMY MOVING ON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ALGIERS-The British Eighth Army, fighting up the east side of Italy, has made a decided advance of eight miles beyond Termoli towards Pescara, crossing the Trigo River and capturing three towns. General Bernard Montgomery's forces are now ten miles above Termoli. On the east the Fifth Army, facing difficult mountain terrain, is progressing but not so rapidly. Heavy air attacks have been made on railway facilities and air fields around Rome. Allied heavy artillery has crushed a Nazi counter-attack at Alife on the Fifth Army's right wing, destroying a number of Nazi tanks.

EISENHOWER SPEAKS

ALGIERS-General Sir Dwight Eisenhower, in a broadcast from Algiers, said that victory lies beyond a long and rough road. The Allied armies were ready for hard battles. He appealed for full support on the home front.

BOMBING BRITAIN

LONDON-London had its ninth straight night alert Saturday night when enemy raiders stabbed again. A few bombs were dropped by the enemy planes on one district with some damage but no casualties. East Anglia was also attacked and a few casualties were reported.

REDS OUTSMART NAZIS

LONDON-Fleeing Nazis, outsmarted and slashed along the entire eastern front by the Russians, are in imminent peril of suffering the biggest disaster since the Soviets began thir summer offensive. Reports from the battlefront say that possibly 1,500,000 Germans face entrapment by the Russians flanking Dnieper Bend above the Crimea and around Kiev and Gomel. Some sources estimate that more than 1,000,000 Nazis are crowded into the Dnieperpetrovsk area alone. The Russians, now driving southward from captured Melitipol, defence of which cost the Nazis 20,000 men in killed alone, are within 31 miles of Dnieperpetrovsk. The Reds have already carried the attack half way toward Crimea and are also advancing on westward sectors.

HITTING AT REICH

LONDON-Official reports say the visibility was good for the big week-end raid over Kassel in Germany and first reports indicated that the Royal Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force had fought through many Nazi fighters on Friday night to concentrate their attack of explosives on the important war and industrial centre. It was the ninth and costliest major raid of the month by the British, 44 bombers, including 12 Canadians, failing to return. A smaller force of heavy planes bombed Frankfort and Mosquitoes assaulted the Cologne area. There were lighter raids Saturday and Sunday night on the Ruhr and Phineland.
