An Appeal for the Army . . .

Multitudinous have become the appeals for financial aid that the war has brought. The most of them are worthy and deserving of our support. Certainly among these worthy ones we may list the Salvation Army's Red Shield Home Front Appeal which will be coming on later this month. Here in Prince Rupert the campaign has been set to open on September 20 which is two weeks hence.

We have actively supported the Army in its ap peals in the past and, in view of the work that it carries on in peace as well as in war, we feel ourselves justified even at this early date in putting in a good word for the Army and its drive. It is well worthy of all the support it can be given.

Probably some of the very people who have enjoyed the favor and assistance of the Army in the past will be able on this occasion to give themselves.

Most human problems are deeper than the need of food, clothing and shelter and, while making every possible effort to meet these surface needs, the Salvation Army seeks in various ways to help sustain and improve that spiritual morale, so essential in the make-up of the best citizens.

The Salvation Army is not supported by large endowment funds or by huge gifts of wealthy persons or corporations. Its support can be truly said to be chiefly from people of moderate means and the worker.

Early End of War? . . .

Hitler will be eliminated before the year is over declares the foreign letter of the International Statistical Bureau.

While it is possible that the European war will continue until next spring, the chance that Germany will collapse this fall has been increased appreciably. We would increase the odds favoring Germany's early collapse from about 50-50 to about 60-40. The main reasons are the effects of Italian disintegration, bombing, and Russia's progress.

The Italian mainland (now invaded) will quickly be made the base for a drive into the Balkans. Simultaneous invasions elsewhere-in the North of Europe, in Denmark or Northern France - are

Although Russia will be anxious to maintain its strength for the final stages of the war, the weakening of Germany's entire military position plus continued Russian pressure will result in further German defeats on this front.

Japan will have to revise its strategy quickly in view of Italy's collapse and the prospect that the European war will end soon. Further Japanese offensives will be limited to China, with the purpose of eliminating bases from which United States flyers can bomb Tokyo.
