There was no further word at last night's meeting of the board of school trusteees from City Engineer F. N. Good who had been asked to make estimates of repairs to school buildings which will be necessary this year. It was mentioned that some saving in heating might be effected by tightening up windows and doors to keep out the wind.

Tonight's train, due to arrive from the East at 7 o'clock, was reported this morning to be nine hours late.

Permission was granted by the board of school trustees last night for the American forces here to use one of the classrooms of Borden Street School on Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week in connection with their activities.

S. A. Cheeseman, principal of Borden Street School, has put in a request to the board of school trustees for a new set of the Book of Knowledge, other schools having made similar requests. It was suggested that here might be an opportunity for some public spirited organization to make a very useful gift to the schools.

The board of school trustees last night decided to request the city council to complete a sidewalk leading from Borden Street down Biggar Place to Third Avenue. This would be in the interests of general safety but more particularly that of the school children, it was felt.

For nearly four hours, the board of school trustees was in regular weekly session last night in a nigh freezing city council chamber. There was a considerable amount of routine business, much of it being in connection with preparation of the year's estimates which must be in the hands of the city council by February 15.

Through Jack Deane, chairman of the board, the school board last night received a report on recent fire drills in the schools. King Edward School had been emptied in one minute and a half, Borden Street School in fifty-eight seconds and Seal Cove School in twenty seconds.

Dim-out regulations and their effect on the schools was brought up last night at the meeting of the board of school trustees. It was decided to communicate with J. J. Little, head of the Civilian Protection Committee here, for clarification of just what was necessary as far as the schools are concerned.

Nine more recruits for the Prince Rupert Machine Gun Regiment, local reserve unit, were attested at the Armory last evening. They were S. D. Adolph, G. S. Clark, H. Gascoyne, R. J. Gibson, R. N. Judge, D. J. Mason, F. B. Quinn, L. Brakstad and J. McLeod.

The installation of a coal instead of an oil heating plant has made extra work for the janitor of Booth Memorial School. The board of school trustees, at its meeting last night, decided to advertise for a woman assistant who would do two hours' work a day for $20 a month.
