"CLAUDIA" IS HERE

Lovable Girl of Novel and Stage Is Seen at Capitol Theatre.

Laughable, lovable Claudia, the young wife of novel and stage, whose domestic ups and downs delighted Broadway audiences for two years, is brought to the screen of the Capital Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, under the original title of "Claudia" in the person of Dorothy McGuire, who portrayed the heroine on the stage.
The film also features Robert Young as David, Claudia's husband, and Ina Claire as Mrs.
Brown, Claudia's mother.

Claudia is the young wife who lives with her husband in a rambling Connecticut farm house. Her sense of budget is sublime—and the general ease with which she meets domestic difficulties by simply ignoring them has become as classic as a June bride. Claudia is the American girl—the girl who saunters about her home in low-heeled shoes, girlish dresses and collegiate cardigans.
Into "Claudia's" pleasantly rural and rather frivolous existence come many disturbing things. She meets a cosmopolitan British playwright played brilliantly by Reginald Gardiner, who is intrigued by her whimsical charm.

Tragedy strikes Claudia when she learns her beloved mother is doomed to die. Yet at the same time she learns that she is to become a mother. Thus with the realization that life and death work hand in hand, she suddenly matures.

"Proudly She Marches" Here

A complete picture of the training girls are getting in Canada's armed forces has been filmed for the screen in "Proudly She Marches." One of the "Canada Carries On" series,
"Proudly She Marches" will be shown at the Capitol Theatre in Prince Rupert October 25 to 26.
The duties and recreational activities of Canada's girls in the Navy, Army and Royal Canadian Air Force are thoroughly covered in this interesting film.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

Captain Armitage always has some sort of a surprise up his sleeve. Besides being a magician, a ventriloquist and delving in hypnotism he also has an aunt who writes verse. It came about this way, he was rummaging through our library and ran across a school text book called "The Voice of Canada" which is a collection of Canadian writings. Among these poems he found a very lovely one written by his first cousin, Annie C.
Dalton. Mrs. Dalton has two books of verse to her name:
"The Marriage of Music" and
"Home and Adventurer." I have taken a few verses from her poem called

INCANTATIONS

O Dog-wood tree,
Be kind to me,
For I have loved you so;
And now beneath your branches, see,
I pray for you to grow.

If I should pray
For you each day,
Would not your sorrow heal?
For flowers and trees, the wise men say,
Can hear and see and feel.

Then hear my prayer—
A spring so fair!
Must mourn for you grown dull,
With all those branches stark and bare,
That were so beautiful.

O wilful tree,
Come back to me!
'Tis dark where you would go, Even now beneath lorn branches,
see,
I pray for you to grow.

Concerning his cousin the captain left me the following note: "F. G. A. browsing through the books at the Red Triangle Club, same across one of his cousin's poems 'Incantations' by the late Annie Charlotte Dalton, M.B.E., of Vancouver, B.C. F. G.
A. remarked that his cousin—almost totally deaf—could hear the works of nature when others, more gifted in hearing, would be oblivious to their surroundings."

Which makes me think of the many times I have watched a deaf child at play and thought as I watched his sweet smile and the look of peace upon his face that he must hear the voice of God although mine was denied him.
