GILBEY'S, in peacetime a symbol of friendship and goodwill wherever men met, now switches to the offensive. Today all of our manufacturing facilities are devoted entirely to production for war purposes; and, naturally, we are proud of this important assignment. Consequently, Gilbey's internationally famous gins may occasionally be unavailable until the "cease-fire" sounds. As soon as conditions permit - along with those other luxuries which we now willingly sacrifice - Gilbey's Gins will again be obtainable in adequate quantities, when men of goodwill once more foregather in friendship and peace.

A world champion pistol marksman, speaking before a local service club Wednesday, reflected on how much more comfortable a lot of people would feel these days if they were crack revolver shots. He advocated prowess in this way as a most effective means of protecting one's home in case of emergency.

This is only one of many things that it might well behoove a lot of us to interest ourselves in against the · possibility of what many feel might be real danger. And we should be doing more than merely thinking about it. There is a spot where every one of us might well fit into.
