Strictly Instrumental Was Army Show Sunday Nite

(By Dorothy Garbutt)

Stretly instrumental was the concert for the troops on Sunday night at the Capitol. Two first class bands alternated with Frotessor McLelland's quizz teams in making the Wilson, as master of ceremonies. introduced the various acts and contributed a number of clever entre-acts himself.

Ray Proverb's Swing Septette opened the program with "China Boy" and "Stardust,,' the latter featuring Freddie Gustini and his Infant and pre-school age child- trumpet. This group of seven is Freddie Gustini, who helps out with the Prince Rupert Area Orchestra at the Wednesday "Y" dances, played solo numbers on his trumpet, "Home" and "Dinah". Freddie's music is sweet and lovely and he was called back repeatedly.

Next to entertain was Chick Wiebe, the pianist of the "Three and a-Half Balls of Fire" the Minesweeper Maestro in a Medley of popular songs. For his encore he gave an interpretation of "Stardust".

Closing the program was Ray Proverb's Swing Septette in "My Blue Heaven" and their well known theme song "Mine All Mine".
