British M.P.'s Told Too Old

DUNDEE, Scotland, June 15 (CP)—The average age of members of the British House of Commons is too high, Dingle Foot, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Economic Warfare, told a local business club in an address criticising "obvious weaknesses" in Parliament.

Mr. Foot, 38 years old, said there was a marked tendency among members to become so engrossed in constituency business that they had little time or energy left to devote to larger issues in parliament. Subservience to the party machine had been far more marked than it was in the early days of the century, he said. "The greatest weakness, however, is that the House is grotesquely unrepresentative," he continued.

Hill Sixty Chapter Meets at Home Of Mrs. Greig

At a well attended meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. R. S. Greig, McBride Street, members of Hill Sixty Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, handed in lovely collections of knitted goods and sewing. These will enable a shipment of refugee garments to be despatched shortly.

Further plans were enthusiastically made for ordering more materials, also knitting for the three services.

The recent tea held at the home of Mrs. G. E. Moore had been a great success. A plaque donated by Mrs. J. H. Macey was won by Mrs R. M. Winslow with ticket No. 6.

Donations were ordered to the "Prince Rupert" presentation fund, to the camp libraries, also to King Edward School.

Inspector E. Gammon of the B.C. Police, left on last night's train for the east.
