Time for Something Better . . .

It has been hard for a good many citizens to understand how a condition can exist whereby, as happened Thursday night, a vandal or vandals can go down the main street in the very centre of the business section and hurl rocks to shatter the plate glass windows of several business places and get away with it. We must agree it is an unsatisfactory state of affairs which simply cannot be tolerated. It is not one of those things to shrug one's shoulders over and say it cannot be helped. If vandals can get away with this sort of thing, they can also get away with worse and it is just about time that some adequate measure of protection was given against such actions of lawlessness. A condition where such incidents can go on is simply not good enough and the public would be right in demanding that something be done about it. The people are not so much interested in blaming any one but in having the necessary action taken to ensure that such things as this cannot happen, particularly in the very centre of the city. It is time to say, with due consideration of all, that something better must be done in the enforcement of law and order in Prince Rupert. Arguments and excuses cannot go any longer. The reason must be found by those who know and the necessary action taken.

Certainly, we have reason to insist that the person or persons responsible for this latest vandalism should be apprehended and adequately dealt with. We have ever greater justification to demand that we are given protection against such or even more serious acts.

This comment may hurt and offend certain persons but we consider it our duty in the public interest to voice it.

Call the chips where they may, it is time to curb lawlessness which is becoming too general and flagrant in Prince Rupert. We have been patient long enough.

Young Men War's Need . . .

The age limit for voluntary enlistment in the Canadian armed forces has been reduced from forty-five to thirty-seven years. The importance of having good fighting men on hand is probably none the less, favorable war developments notwithstanding. However, in making this new order, the government has no doubt been advised by the military authorities, that men over thirty-seven do not make the kind of fighting men we need. They are too old and simply do not have the physical goods it takes.

The government has evidently come to the conclusion that, in the pursuit of the war effort, men over thirty-seven years of age can be used to better advantage other than in the army.

Premier King's Warning . . .

It is probably as well that Prime Minister King should issue a warning against relaxation of the A.R.P. organization and activity on the Pacific Coast. We are keeping the Jap busy thousands of miles away to be sure and he will probably not essay any further territorial campaigns very far afield. We should not assume, however, that he will not attempt diversions or forays and these might, as we have said before, conceivably be in our direction. The warning of Mr. King is timely and we would do well here in Prince Rupert to heed it. The Jap could and might come here. We should by no means overlook the possibility.

Here to Alaska . . .

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has decided to institute an all-out campaign in support of the route from Alaska northward for a road to connect British Columbia with the Alaska Highway. Already, due to the efforts and representations of Messrs. Wilson and Taylor of Burns Lake, the support of all Chambers of Commerce and such organizations from here to and including Vanderhoof has been won. Now the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has decided to take the lead in carrying advocacy of the route to Victoria and to Seattle where important members of the international highway commission dwell. The support of other local organizations is being sought and, no doubt, will be spontaneously accorded.

After all, the route north from Hazelton is not new in a general way. What is new about the Wilson plan is that it eliminates the snow-laden Yukon Telegraph trail, veering off to the west by way of the Kispiox, Naas and Irving Rivers in the lee to the east of the Coast Range, thus escaping the snows which had previously been the principal objection to the Hazelton route. There will also be strong, if not valid, opposition to it from certain other quarters.

SERIOUS SITUATION

Editor, Daily News:
May I have some of your valuable space for the purpose of bringing to the attention of the general public a serious situation which has developed in regard to our ambulance. I doubt if the public generally realize that at the present moment they are without any ambulance facilities. In a town of this size, this is a real catastrophe. It means that no industrial accident can be properly transported to the hospital. It means that during the night when taxis are no longer available, maternity cases will have to walk to the hospital. It means that a patient suffering from acute appendicitis or pneumonia or half a dozen other major illnesses will have to be carried out to a taxi or in some cases they will have to walk to the car. It should not be necessary for me to point out the serious consequences of this state of affairs.
So far as one can find out, nothing has been done to supply a new ambulance for the city. It is easy enough to say to supply one but that is not going to save the injured and sick while the argument is being settled. One thing we do know, the city Fire Department operated the ambulance during the past year in an exceptionally efficient manner. There is reason to suppose they will continue to do so if they are supplied with the car. The problem is where to get a new ambulance. Perhaps if we victimize the general public long enough, someone will come to the rescue but I am going to suggest Mr. Editor, that we get busy and help ourselves. I suggest to you that a public subscription be opened in your paper and that everyone be asked to send in a contribution. To start the ball rolling, I will contribute $25. We will probably need at least $2,000 to purchase a first-class ambulance. It should be very easy to do this if everyone will get behind the proposition.

Thanking you for this space in your paper, I am
R. G. LARGE, M.D.

(The Daily News will be glad to receive and acknowledge donations to an ambulance fund.—Editor.)

EDINBURGH 9.—Despite wartime difficulties, membership in the Scottish Girl Guides Association has increased to more than 73,800 in all ranks.

Tests made by the consumer section of the agriculture department show that one teaspoon of sugar per apple provides enough sweetening for most tastes. As with other fruits, a dash of salt will reduce the amount of sugar required.

When sugar is cooked with fruit—as in making apple sauce—it is changed chemically into another, less sweet form of sugar, and for this reason less sugar is required to sweeten fruit if it is added only after the fruit has been cooked.

SAVING WOOL—Have you been in the habit of discarding a needful of wool? It may seem only a short length, the consumer branch of the prices board says, but it can be put to a variety of uses—the day may come when you'll want to eke out enough of that color for a reinforcement job or to sew up seams. The Experts Say . . .

POTATOES—Nutrition services point out that choice, mealy potatoes—the kind which taste so good when baked—are on the market. They bring with them the opportunity to step up the family's score on vitamins and minerals.

Most of the minerals lie just under the skin of the potato, and when a potato is peeled, no matter how thinly, these minerals go into the garbage pail with the skins. Skins also act as a life preserver for vitamin C. When potatoes are cooked and served in their jackets, they make important contributions to the diet.

APPLES USEFUL—Apples simplify the planning of desserts at this time of year, for an almost endless variety of desserts can be made with them—and they are easy on the sugar ration too.

When sugar is cooked with fruit—as in making apple sauce—it is changed chemically into another, less sweet form of sugar, and for this reason less sugar is required to sweeten fruit if it is added only after the fruit has been cooked.
