Torpedoeing of Centaur...

We may be horrified and shocked at the ruthless torpedoeing of the Australian hospital ship Centaur but we again tomorrow afternoon in the there should always be time left may not be surprised. The deliberate sinking without Ladies' Lounge at the "Y." Joe over for enough rest. But these warning of the vessel of mercy, for the type of which Terry has brought in some curtain "two-job men" do not get enough there is supposed to be protection under the provisions the fort's researched up for one of rest and so many of them are not of international law, is but typical of the tactics employed new Service Wives' pins are here is left for others to do and in by the enemy we are up against.

Here has been recorded another of the charges which we would do well to remember when the day of reckoning comes and which should guard us against getting too soft-hearted in the face of remorseful or rependant bring a friend to this meeting and effort. pleadings.

Our day of reckoning will come and, for the satisfaction of ourselves and the chastening of our enemy, we may be excused if we are not too charitable then.

LETTERBOX

Editor, Daily News:

Many of us are acquainted with what we call "two-job men," and it is my belief that none of these men are holding down two jobs for patriotic reasons. In these times it is understandable that and are quite the most attractive many instances they are a menace to their fellow workers.

I think this "two job" racket

There are still plenty of unrationed foods on the market. Couple them with the limited supplies of rationed items, and you still have the ingredients of many a healthful and tasty menu.

Right here's where your electric range and refrigerator can help. They'll save precious vitamins and food flavours. They'll help you serve delicious, nourishing meals - and help save time and drudgery,

Yes, your electric servants are your wartime auxiliaries for patriotic pleasures at home. Take good care of them.
