Portrait of Hitler
Brings Two Dollars

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — A framed portrait of Hitler, even with the added attraction of an authentic autograph, failed to excite brisk bidding when it was offered at an auction sale of the effects of a former member of the German consulate. It was sold to a Christchurch man for two dollars.

Before he was deported under diplomatic immunity in September, 1939, the owner, Herr E. Runz, told a packer: "Crate them carefully and put them in store. I will be back in six months."

His ornate and luxurious furniture, wine and champagne glasses and hunting trophies have had to wait longer than that for the return of the representative of the victorious Reich. Apparently he became less confident after leaving New Zealand and his effort to return home seems to have lapsed after reaching Java, as the auctioneer has been instructed to send the proceeds of the sale there.

AUSSIE MINES RE-OPEN
CANBERRA — It was announced recently that the federal government has decided to make loan funds available to assist the rehabilitation of the Australian mining industry. The speedy re-opening of mines was necessary to provide employment for returned servicemen.

Deploable and filthy sanitary conditions, worse than people who lived in the high standards of Canada could even imagine, were described by the young veteran. Lice, fleas, bedbugs, cockroaches, rats—all the camps abounded with them. All of this, added to the ill-treatment and low food standard, of course, went to undermining health.

CANADIANS DIED

brought back until 8 p.m. There were three meals a day but—what meals! Rice and greens soup for breakfast, two course buns at midday, rice and soup again at 8:30.

Food conditions were somewhat better for a time at the Yokohama shipyards with a little meat, considerable fish and even some sweetbreads but, even there it was eventually back to rice and soup as all of Japan had to tighten its belt.

In the mines at Sandai, as Japan approached its extremity, conditions were worse than ever.

The prisoner of war received 10 sens (1c) per day for his work. One hundred sens equal one yen. For 10 yen one could buy five cigarettes on the black market in Japan. For a while at Yokohama there was a daily allowance of three cigarettes if one worked but this finally got down to one a day.

Towards the end, the Japanese were being reduced themselves to living conditions little if any better than that imposed on their prisoners.

One of the welcome things during the dreary years of imprisonment was the receipt of the Red Cross parcels at Christmas. In the winter of 1944-45 there were parcels at Christmas, New Year and February. However, the Japanese, although they were known to have the parcels, were inclined to hold them back. But some of them got through and they were like "a gift from Heaven."

Liberation for the survivors of the two Canadian regiments—Winnipeg Grenadiers and Royal Rifles—who were captured at Hong Kong, came in September 1945. "We left Sendai September 9 for Tokyo where we were placed aboard the American battleship Iowa and transported back to Tokyo," recalled Query. From Tokyo they were flown to Guam whence a 16-day voyage by transport took them to San Diego and then on to Seattle.

Query was discharged at Winnipeg March 20. He plans to return there in about a month and will decide on his plans for the future which are so far admittedly vague.

MACEY'S DEFEAT
INVERNESS IN HOOP EXHIBIT

Macey's intermediate basketball squad polished off an invading team from Inverness Canyery in the Civic Centre gym Saturday night, handing the visitors a 70-33 defeat in a one-sided contest which, nevertheless, seemed to satisfy the fans who crowded the galleries. In the junior preliminary game, Watts and Nickerson handed out a 27-14 defeat to an aggregation of Junior All-Stars.

Both games were exhibition features, culminating the winter playing season whose regular schedules have been completed.

STILL A GAMBLE

In the 18th century in Salem, N.C., marriage proposals were conveyed to girls of the Moravian Church after drawing of a lot to determine whether the match was approved by the Lord.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Johansen, Thompson Street, returned the city this morning on halibut boat Sharon N from Vancouver where they went days ago. Mr. Johansen took the Sharon N to the fishing grounds this summer, being with the second section of the fleet at the end of the season.

No Thoroughbred
Racing Expected

MONTREAL — No thoroughbred racing will be held at Montreal's Blue Bonnets race track this summer. An official of the Montreal Jockey Club has announced that the plan will be to use the track for harness racing. It was reported previously that two races conducted under an independent track status would be held at the Blue Bonnets race track this summer.
