CHURCHILL SOUNDS A GRAVE WARNING

Calls for Anglo-American Alliance Against Russia

NO ONE CAN TELL HOW FAR SOVIET WOULD GO WITH ITS PLAN FOR EXPANSION OF POWER AND DOCTRINES — SHADOWS FALL ON WORLD AGAIN

FULTON, Missouri (CP) — Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain called today for a virtual Anglo-American military alliance with a blunt warning against what he termed Russia's desire for "indefinite expansion" of its "power and doctrines."

Mr. Churchill asserted that "shadow has fallen upon scenes so lately lighted by Allied victory. Nobody knows what Soviet Russia and its communist international organization intends to do in the immediate future or what are the limits, if any, to their expansive and proselyting tendencies."

Britain's wartime leader, in an address prepared for delivery at Westminster College, gravely declared that the prevention of another war "can only be achieved by reaching now, in 1946, a good understanding on all points with Russia under general authority of the United Nations Organization."

While he said he does not believe Russia wants war, Mr. Churchill attributed to the Russians a "desire for 'fruits of war and indefinite expansion of their power and doctrines.'" He cautioned against releasing the secret of the atomic bomb at this time.

Mr. Churchill emphasized that he spoke "only for myself" and had no official mission.

Great Blessing Is Destruction

From the gleaming wings of science, which might have brought immeasurable blessing to mankind, might be precipitated a return to the dark age—the stone age.

"The time is short. There is no time for waiting," Mr. Churchill asserted.

"Now war can find any nation between dusk and dawn," he asserted.

Mr. Churchill charged Russia-dominated Poland with enormous and wrongful inroads in Germany.

Totalitarian control was being imposed behind an iron curtain which stretched across Europe from Stettin on the Baltic to Trieste on the Adriatic.

The outlook was also anxious in the Far East, particularly in Manchuria, the wartime premier asserted.

The world needed a new unity in Europe.

He had not lost hope in the dark days, said Mr. Churchill. Neither had he lost hope now.

"But I do not see or feel the same confidence or the same hope today that I had last year that wars are over." However, he still did not feel that war was inevitable.

"The future is in our own hands."

He urged the establishment of freedom and democracy as rapidly as possible in all countries. He warned against a policy of appeasement.

The Russians had admiration for strength and not for weakness, he felt.

"If western democracy stands together, their influence will be immense," he asserted.

He recalled how he had cried aloud against appeasement but no one had listened.

There never had been a war in history that could have been more easily prevented by timely action than the last. "We must not let that happen again."

"Let no man underrate the abiding power of the British Empire and Commonwealth."

Mr. Churchill's subject was "The Sinews of Peace."

Miss Lin Brown, field worker, extension department, University of British Columbia, spoke briefly of the need for adult education.

Karl Dybhavn attended in his capacity as manager of the United Fishermen's Co-operative (Vancouver) and contributed to the deliberations.

The membership in general discussed in great length the large expansion program being carried out by the association. They felt that this showed an

CO-OPERATIVE IS TO ESTABLISH NEW $75,000 LIVER OIL PLANT IN RUPERT

The Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative, at their seventh annual meeting here, voted to build a $75,000 liver oil plant as soon as construction on the 3,000-ton ice-making and storage plant is completed. Over two hundred members from all parts of the coast were present and President Harry Hansen guided the discussions.

Full reports on business operations were made to the membership by directors and employees. D. G. Macdonald, secretary, Pacific Coast Fishermen's Mutual Marine Insurance Co., pronounced the association in excellent financial condition. A substantial amount was set aside for educational and welfare purposes including $500 to the extension department of the University of British Columbia. This will assist in establishing a branch office of the department in Prince Rupert to provide a broad adult educational program for the whole northern area.

Jack Deane, manager, Fishermen's Co-operative Federation, stated that markets for fish and fish products would continue to be good. Delegates nominated to attend the convention of the federation to be held in Vancouver next month were instructed to encourage plans which would continue the democratic participation of members as well as provide for further great expansion of the organization.

C. D. Clarke described the efforts of the Co-operative Union of Canada to persuade the provincial government to make a survey of co-operatives in B.C. A thorough revision of the Co-operative Associations Act and the appointment of an inspector of co-operatives is being requested.

Unity Is Keynote

Unity was the keynote of speeches last night at a banquet tendered in honor of the visitors by the Native Sisterhood of British Columbia.

"We have an organization now that will take care of all our problems," declared President William Scow. "Its objective is to take care of the people as a whole but we must emphasize and practice the brotherhood of mankind."

Past President Ambrose Reid, an executive member, outlined the history of the organization which had been conceived by a few natives in 1931. The brotherhood was very close today to complete activity throughout the province.

Rev. Peter Kelly of Ocean Falls said "you have aroused the public" to the opinion that it is time to change the law. "The government now proposes to revise the Indian Act and create a new charter for the Indians of Canada. Every person should use his money and influence in support of the movement."

Heber Clifton of Hartley Bay spoke in the Tsimpsan tongue.

The speeches were interspersed with music by the Port Simpson band and the program was recorded for rebroadcast over CFPB, Prince Rupert.

In the business session this morning resolutions and other matters were considered.

Civic Centre Association Asks Temporary Use Of Y.M.C.A. Building

Would Defer Final Taking Over Until After Price Has Been Arbitrated

Feeling that joint operation of the present Y.M.C.A. war services building here as armory and civic centre was impractical, the executive of the Prince Rupert Civic Centre Association, at a meeting last night, decided to ask the federal minister of national defence to implement an original agreement whereby the Civic Centre Association has the first option to purchase the building at an arbitrated price.

Until such arbitration is completed, temporary use of the building is asked so that the activities of the Civic Centre, as already arranged, may be proceeded with.

Such was the unanimous decision of the meeting which was attended by T. N. Youngs, chairman of the Civic Centre Association; Dr. R. G. Large, vice-chairman; C. G. Ham, W. F. Stone, Oscar Haveroy, Gunnar Selvig, D. C. Stevenson, E. V. Whiting, Art Murray and Don Forward.

The following was the telegram which was sent to the Minister of National Defence after the meeting:

"After careful consideration we find that, due to extensive requirements of civic recreational program and to extensive facilities required by reserve army, the suggested joint operation of war services building is entirely impractical. Civic Centre Association requests that you implement original agreement whereby we have first option to purchase building at arbitrated price and that, until such arbitration is completed, we be granted temporary use of building on basis recommended in letter December 5 to National War Services and agreed to in telegram from George Piffner to city of Prince Rupert. This matter is of great import to all citizens of Prince Rupert and deserving of your favorable consideration."
