SUPERVISED PLAY PROGRAM STARTING WITH SWIM CLASSES

Swimming instruction classes at McClymont Park pool beginning late Wednesday afternoon will officially herald the opening of the supervised playground program for the current season. The Civic Centre administration and the Red Cross are co-operating to make these classes possible in Prince Rupert. The classes, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Jackson, will follow the methods and technique laid down by the Red Cross in their current swimming and water safety campaign.

Miss Jackson has recently returned from Vancouver where she completed the intensive training course operated by the Red Cross as a means of training personnel to further the good cause of water safety.

Any non-swimmer between the ages of 5 and 13 years will be registered for the initial classes, either at the Civic Centre prior to Wednesday's first class or at the classes themselves. Suitable arrangements to avoid classes for those in other age groups will be made dependent upon the desires or response to these classes.

Other plans for the supervised playground season include supervision of McClymont Park during afternoons and evenings by Miss Laverne Linney. Seal Cove playground to be under the watchful eye of the popular and genial Mr. Ferguson while children's activities at Alder Park will also be supervised.

Activities to be arranged and directed by the staff will include many interesting contests and events designed to help the children make constructive use of their leisure time throughout the summer.

20 YEARS AGO RUPERT SPORT

C. L. Youngman beat N. W. Pringle 6-0 and 6-2 in the last game of the first round of the Regimental tennis tournament. Youngman later lost to Nicholas R. Howard defeated S. P. McMordie, 6-0, 6-0, in the semi-final. A. H. Carmichael and J. W. Nicholls will meet in the other semi-final.

The Grand Terminals won from the Moose in the Mobley Cup football series by 4-1. Stars for the Terminals were Dickens with three goals, Paddy O'Donnell, W. Mitchell and Farquhar. Wilson scored the only goal for the Moose.

Harry Love and George Tite, who had accompanied the baseball team to Ketchikan, returned. They had a rainy 11-hour trip north but the return was made in 12 hours under ideal weather conditions.

TALKATIVE TREES
Poplars are called the "whispering trees" because one leaf hitting against another makes a whispering sound.

SHORT SPORT

Boston Red Sox paid a reported $2,900 to the minor league Providence club for rookie pitcher George Herman Ruth 32 years ago today. Five years later the Red Sox sold Ruth to the New York Yankees where he shifted to the outfield and became the greatest home run hitter of all time.

Howie Morenz turned professional with Montreal Canadiens 23 years ago. The Stratford, Ont., streak, one of hockey's most colorful figures, twice led the National League in scoring and was a three-time winner of the Hart trophy for the league's most valuable player. He died March 8, 1937, from complications following a hockey injury.

The oldtimers among the cock-fighting communities of Cumberland, Westmorland and North Lancashire aren't very happy these days. The sport is dying out and they miss also the excitement of keeping one step ahead of the police. The sport was dealt a severe, if not mortal blow, by the rationing of feeding stuffs in the last two years of the war and, in common with pigeon fanciers, cock-fighters were compelled to reduce their stock of birds. On top of this setback, mourned an old-timer, the youngsters now are following the greyhounds and find "it too much bother to breed the cocks, to feed them and to teach them (after they have had boxing gloves put on them) to fight in barns and such-like places."

The old-timer, who believes he "and the missus" are the last of the old brigade, said the business is "too finicky" for the youngsters. "Even the excitement of keeping out of the clutches of the police doesn't attract them. I don't know what people are coming to." He recalled that "half the pleasure of the old days

Many Women Workers In New South Wales

SYDNEY, Australia. — Though many industries complain of shortage of female help, there are estimated to be 245,000 women wage earners in New South Wales, Australia's most populous state, compared with 168,000 at the start of the war.

was in laying a false trail for the police."

Tom Waugh, well known Newmarket racehorse trainer, died recently in hospital at this famous racetrack town. He was 72 years old.

Sports enthusiasts in the Lakeland district of Lancashire are upset. They charge that book-makers are invading village sports, with one declaring he saw bets "being taken on an egg and spoon race." The question came into prominence when a 1-year old boy, racing under an assumed name, won a professional cross-country race at Kendal sports, where book-makers were offering 20 to 1 against him. S. G. Lewis, headmaster of Windermere Grammar School reported the incident and said he "condemned the organization of professional races for children." The boy concerned was upset about what he had done and "it is only fair to him to say he was not aware of its wide implications." Lewis said "I wonder if the public realizes that these children running in professional sports are treated as horses or dogs? The whole business is a matter of grave public concern." A promoter in the district said he was in sympathy with the headmaster's view but added that "unless there is betting on all the events the public won't support our sports."

PLAN HOCKEY'S HALL OF FAME

Construction of Kingston Memorial to Start When Building Restrictions Permit

KINGSTON, Ont. — Choice of a site for hockey's Hall of Fame in this city which lays claim to being the birthplace of Canada's chief winter sport is to be made in the near future although much planning remains to be done before actual construction can be started.

Capt. James T. Sutherland, the prime mover in the campaign which brought the hockey Hall of Fame here, says in a progress report that construction is expected to start as soon as building restrictions permit.

The promoters are intent on a memorial "which will be a most acceptable tribute dedicated to perpetuate the memories of the men who have done so much to develop hockey, nationally and internationally and as players and executives."

Recently a delegation from the local committee, including an architect and a building contractor, visited the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., and obtained much useful information. The members attended a ceremony at which Governor Dewey of New York unveiled a bronze monument to the late Judge K. M. Landis, former baseball czar.

Financial objective of the Hockey Hall of Fame is $50,000 and Captain Sutherland reports that $33,000 has already been received from organizations and individuals although so far there has been no special campaign for funds.

The National Hockey League donated $7,500 and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association $10,000. The city of Kingston gave $5,000. Other donations have come from the Ontario Hockey Association and the United States Amateur Hockey Association. Individual donors include George McNamara, John David Eaton, Mrs. James Richardson, Reginald Crawford, Captain Sutherland and Walter A. Brown, president of the Boston Arena Corporation.

Trophies Are Being Donated

Mayor Stuart Crawford of Kingston, president of the Hall of Fame, has received two handsome trophies, one from J. Gill Gardiner of Brockville and F. L. Pishop of North Battleford, Sask. These and other hockey trophies which have been offered are to be placed in the museum section on the second floor of the projected building.

The committee plans to have framed photographs of all the hockey immortals selected for the shrine hung in the building. The board of governors, which selects those to be honored, consists of Lester Patrick of New York Rangers, Frank Sargent of Port Arthur, former C.A.H.A. president, President Mervyn (Red) Dutton of the N.H.L., Secretary W. A. Hewitt of the O.H.A., Art Ross of Boston Bruins, James Fitzgerald, Toronto sports writer, Baz O'Meara, Montreal sports writer, Abbie Coe, Winnipeg newspaperman, and Wes McKnight, Toronto radio executive and sportscaster.

Nine players have been selected and their names have been inscribed in the magnificent International Honor Roll Book, in illuminated Old English type. All are immortals of the sport—Howe Morenz, George Vezina, Frank McGe, Hobie Baker, Charles (Chuck) Gardiner, Harvey Pulford, Eddie Gerard, Hod Stuart and Tom Phillips. Six men have been selected as "builders of hockey"—John Ross Robert-

THE PHYSICALLY DISABLED VETERAN— A straightforward approach to his employment

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

The job efficiency and working habits of the physically disabled are well illustrated by a survey of 100 firms employing substantial numbers of disabled. Of the 100 firms, 55 found absenteeism lower for the physically disabled, 40 found it the same as with the so-called able bodied, and only 5 found it higher for the physically disabled. Labour turnover was lower for the physically disabled in 83 cases, the same in 16 and higher for the disabled in only 1 case. The accident rate was lower for the physically disabled in 57 cases, the same in both groups in 41 cases and higher among physically disabled in only 2 cases. Productivity among the disabled was lower in 10 cases only. In 66 cases this was considered the same, and in 24 cases productivity was higher among the disabled.

IN CANADA today approximately 25,000 veterans have some type of physical disability as an aftermath of war. The vast majority of them who are ready for employment are being absorbed into the country's economy, and are providing proof that a physical disability need not be a job handicap. There are, among those employed, full-time farmers, log scalers, telephone linemen, clerks, accountants, watch makers. There is scarcely a field in which physically disabled veterans are not successful.

The answer to successful employment of the physically disabled is in a normal approach. They are normal people. There are many things they can do. There are few of which they are not capable. They should be employed, as are the so-called able bodied, on the basis of what they can do. If, for instance, a job does not require the use of legs, then that job can be done efficiently by a double leg amputee.

As with the so-called able bodied, factors other than physical are important. These are things such as knowledge, personal suitability and aptitude. The physically disabled should be employed, as in the case of others, with these things in mind. They do not want employment on the basis of charity, or because it is felt the country owes them a living.

Before the physically disabled veteran enters the employment stream, through treatment his disability has been reduced to the minimum. Where required, he has been supplied with appliances to replace, insofar as possible, the lost physical capacities. Many have received specialized training in occupations in which their disability is not a handicap.

Available to the veteran and to industry are the services of men specially trained in the employment of the physically disabled. In the Department of Veterans Affairs these men are known as Casualty Rehabilitation Officers. The Department of Labour makes assistance available through the Special Placement Section of the National Employment Service.

If you wish assistance in the employment of the physically disabled, discuss it with these officers. They are at your service to assist in analyzing job requirements and assessing the capacity of the veteran.

It's what a man CAN DO that counts

Three books dealing with the modern technique of employing the disabled are being made available to employers. They will be found of real assistance in making effective placements.
