HOOP TALK

It's 99 Taxi and the Savoy's again in the senior tilt of this evening's offering of basketball and, of course, the third desperate effort of Doc Montgomery to come up with a win against the league leading taximen. If the fans had anything to do with it 99 would stop their winning ways here and now as they have been so far undefeated and that makes for lack of popularity. In the last meeting of Savoy's and B.C. Packers both coach Neil Ross and the fishermen and Montgomery of the Savoy's came up with a new type of play that they figured might upset the 99 board of strategy only to have the tables turned on them by Art Murray and his boys in their last game with the Packers. Employing one of the oldest tricks in basketball—the sleeper play or more commonly known as the man-in-the-hole—the league leaders, through the efforts of little George Viereck and their rebound snagging guards, ran up twelve points on Ross' boys before they were unfortunate enough to lose Viereck through the injury route. It was that move and just that move that gave the 99 team their margin of victory and strangely enough nothing was done about the goings on from the B.C. Packers' bench.

Word has been received from Ketchikan that the first city seniors will show here November 22 and 23, and this will be the first intertown game of the season. Comes now the very difficult task of picking an all-star team to meet them and to whom the task will be given has not yet been decided. Plans are to have the candidates for the team turn out en masse and a selection board will be set up to weed-out until a string of ten players has been chosen.

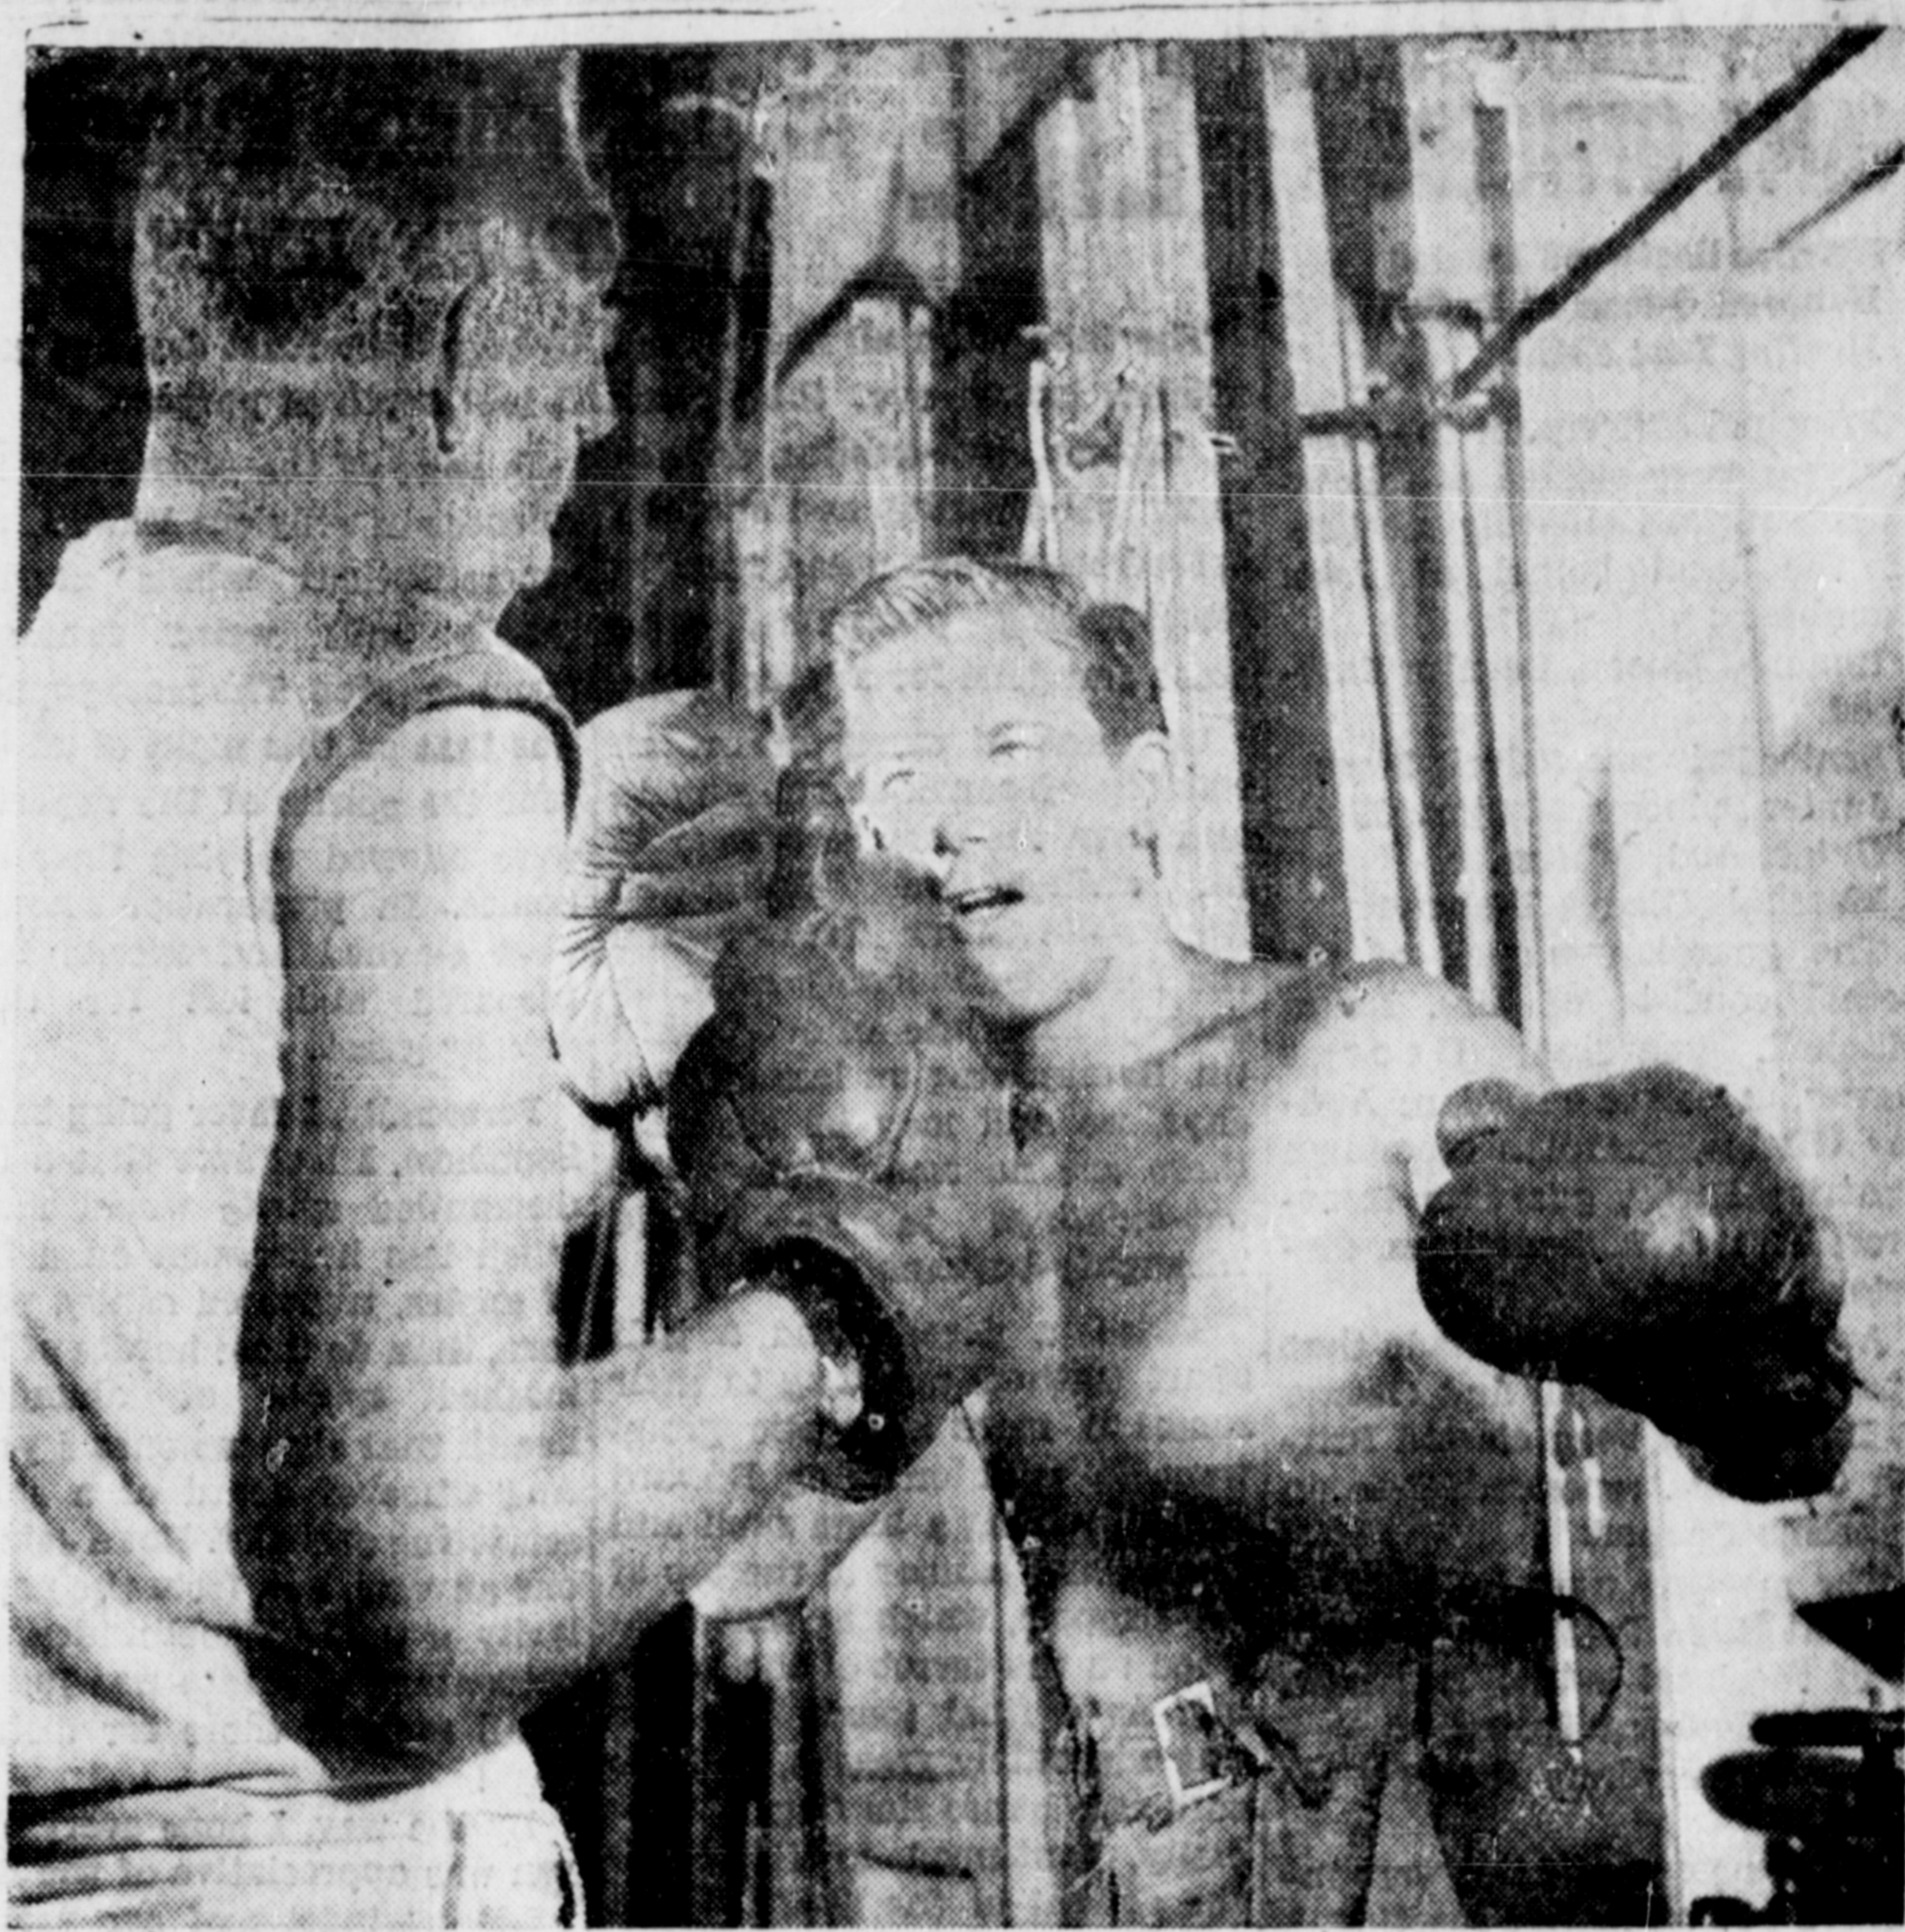

It looks as though we are in for a treat one of these days as the Bo-Me-Hi club continues to outclass everything in the intermediate and are beginning to set their sights on a crack at 99 Taxi on the senior set-up. Coach Alex Bill of the student's isn't making any rash statements as to whether his boys will give the big boys a scare out somehow is very deliberate about pitting them against the type of competition Macphee & Co. are liable to offer. Art Murray, coach of the 99 club, feels that the High School lads should work their way up the ladder as it were and play the weaker team of the senior circuit before jumping at the league leaders and if they are capable why give them a chance to represent the city in all outside games. This seems to be the most logical move on the part of High School, that is take a small bite at first just to see how it tastes. There is no doubt the students carry senior material on their roster in the persons of Thompson and Ciccone but outside of those two lads it looks as though they can do with a little seasoning before they are able to topple the big fellows.

Sonny Beynon will not strip for 99 tonight due to an injury suffered in the game Tuesday night but should be okay for a week tonight when his team plays B.C. Packers again.

Don Forward of the Civic Centre is pleased to announce that the new balconies in the gym will be in readiness for the games this evening and will afford ample vision and comfort regardless of where their seats may be situated.

No ladies game tonight which gives us three games starting at seven and ending shortly after ten.
