RADIO RESEARCH

bleak Baffin Island previously operated by the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Co-ordinating their work, an extensive study was made of the effects on radio of the aurora—peculiar to Canada among the inhabitable portions of the earth's surface.

Scientists say the geographical location of Canada makes it a "natural laboratory" for exploration of the mysteries of the aurora's effect in the zone around the earth's geomagnetic North Pole "towards which the corpuscular radiation of the sun is drawn by the earth's magnetic field."

They explain that corpuscular radiation is in the form of minute particles of matter which are caught in the earth's magnetic field and spiral toward the geomagnetic pole—located on the west coast of Greenland some 12 degrees south of the true North Pole.

The ionization of rarified air at high altitudes by ultra-violet radiation from the sun is "normal" in all inhabitable land masses of the earth except Canada where corpuscular radiation is concentrated and is believed to cause the aurora.

Here, the bombardment of the corpuscular matter apparently modifies normal ionization to such an extent that ability of the ionospheric layers to reflect radio waves back to the earth is lessened.

The recorder stations are strategically located to study the "auroral belt," the outer fringes of which extend to all parts of Canada except the extreme southwest corner near Vancouver Island.

It sweeps across most of Canada, extending eastward across Southern Greenland and Iceland and westward through Central Alaska. It also skirts the northern coast of Siberia.

Jamaica Considers $88,135,500 Plan

KINGSTON, Jamaica, B.W.I., (C.P.)—A plan calling for the expenditure over a 10-year period of £19,585,000 ($88,132,500) on social services, education, agricultural development and general economic improvement of the country was announced here recently. The main objects are to increase the productive capacity of the country to meet the urgent need for improvement of the social and economic condition of the people and to prepare for further more ambitious advances in the future. The plan will be financed from four sources as follows: allocations from colonial development and welfare £6,100,000; estimated surplus on basic island budget £4,695,000; loan £3,000,000; taxation £7,864,00. At a press conference, it was emphasized that the plan as it now stands sets out proposals and not decisions, and that it is not intended that it should be a rigid scheme.

Nursing Sister (Lieut.) Bea Berner sailed last night by the Prince Rupert for Vancouver to resume her duties at the Vancouver Military Hospital after spending the last three weeks on leave at her home here.
