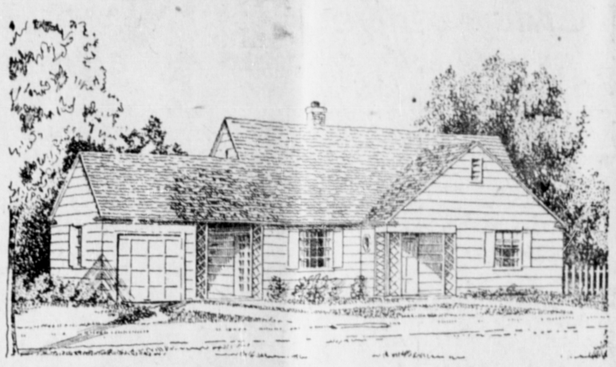
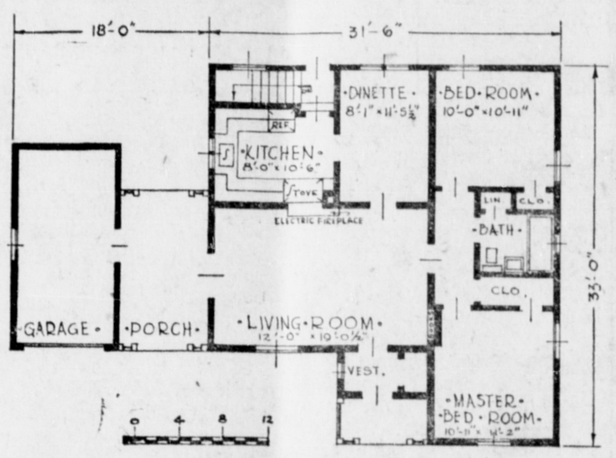
HOME-OF-THE-MONTH





FLOOR PLAN

Featuring ample living comfort, convenience and privacy through compact arrangement of space, this two-bedroom frame house has been selected as the N.H.A. Home-of-the-Month.

The N.H.A. Home-of-the-Month has been chosen from plans of houses currently being built and financed under the National Housing Act. Conforming with N.H.A. standards and planned by Canadians for the Canadian way of living, it may help to provide sound ideas for others who wish to build with N.H.A. or private financing.

Under the National Housing Act, loans for new houses are made on a basis of joint participation by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and by approved lending institutions. All negotiations are conducted through the lending institution.

In this month's house, which is in the moderate cost field, the spacious living room, together with the connecting porch, provides an excellent opportunity to enjoy the advantages of both indoor and outdoor living. The large well-planned kitchen has ample cupboard and counter space. The connecting hall between the living room and the bedroom-bathroom area assures the maximum possible privacy in a house of this type. The exterior is simple and direct with the garage frankly placed in its most convenient position near the street frontage. Cubage is 25,750 cu. ft., including garage and porches. (Note: Please do not write to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for plans or cost estimates of this house. For further information consult a local architect).

CONCERT AT ST. PETER'S

Capacity audiences filled St. Peter's Church hall Friday and Saturday nights despite the deep snow and slippery roads, enjoying the church Young People's concert, which was opened by Canon W. F. Rushbrook who gave a brief history of St. Peter's Church.

Presentations included a wide variety of musical numbers by many performers and was highlighted by the renditions of a specially composed anthem by the Y.P.A. massed choir. Master of ceremonies was club president Charles Graham, while the entertainment was directed by group supervisors Mrs. Helen Marchilldon and Frank Baldwin.

The program was as follows: Renditions by the Y.P.A. mass choir of their Y.P.A. anthem, especially written for the group and of two carols, "The First Nowell" and "We Three K[ings] of Orient" with solo parts taken by Richard Tweed, Vin Ellic[ott] and Ralph Overgaard. The choir was composed as follows: Mary Adcock, Henry Dixon, Margaret Duffus, Vin Elliott, Lloyd Franklin, Bob Franklin, Mildred Furunes, Margaret Graham, Jim Hemmons, Charles Graham, Donna Kerrignan, Donald Main, Frank McFadden, Margaret Symes, Frank Symes, Shirley Tremeer, Ronald Priest, Astrid Swang, Vaughan Tattersall and Jack Wynn.

The program continued with guitar and vocal selections by Richard Tweed; violin duet by Vin Elliott and Vaughan Tattersall accompanied by Mary Adcock; vocal duet by Ralph Overgaard and Richard Tweed of an original composition, "Old Pal," and "White Christmas"; and a piano solo by Margaret Duffus, "The Desert Song" and "Danny Boy."

The Y.P.A. mass choir returned to the stage to sing "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful" with soloist Lloyd Franklin, and "Silent Night," and remained on stage to lead the audience in a brief community sing.

The feature of the program was a one-act play, "A Ghostly Evening," which was extremely well received by the audience. Cast consisted of Margaret Symes, Mildred Furuness, Donna Kerrighan, Jack Wynn, Margaret Graham, Henry Dixon, Jim Hemmons and Hazel Tweed.

The program was concluded by the choir's rendition once more of their anthem, and "Auld Lang Syne."
