

TERRACE TALKS SPORTS, MUSIC

These Among Matters
Discussed at P. T. Meeting

TERRACE — The regular monthly meeting of the Terrace Parent-Teacher Association was held on Thursday evening in the Legion Hall with a good-sized crowd in attendance. Mrs. F. Frank, the president, extended a hearty welcome to all new members present and Mrs. R. de Kergommeaux, the secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and the correspondence which was rather voluminous.

Mrs. D. G. Little spoke of the urgent need at present to provide worthwhile recreational facilities in the line of sports for the teen-age pupils. A meeting of all parents and interested bodies is to be called to see what action can be taken in this matter.

Vic Imhoff, one of the guest speakers who has had considerable musical training, discussed what could be done in the musical line with the children of Terrace. He has offered to form a group of them into a band.

S. F. Campbell, the other guest speaker, dealt with the subject of Credit Unions. The Credit Union is one of three university sponsored study groups organized in Terrace and the P.T.A. plans to hear from all three.

The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments.

Migration of Salmon Reported Upon—Travelling Time Is Revealed

An active salmon tagging program took place off the mouth of the Skeena River last summer and the results have been published in a report by Dr. A. L. Pritchard of the provincial fisheries biological station at Nanaimo. Two vessels were employed, one, the Estep, under Capt. N. Lovrich, doing offshore tagging, while the other, Lady V. Capt. William Leask, restricted its operations mainly to the south of the Skeena River, with one side trip to the Naas area and one to Principe Channel.

The offshore tagging achieved only slight success, due mainly to the fact that the taggers were unable to find concentrations of fish in schools sufficiently large to make purse seining profitable.

An interesting point was demonstrated during the Naas River tagging when three of the fish tagged there later were found in the Skeena. One was recovered at Carlisle Bar, one at Point Lambert, and one at Moricetown, 22 miles above Hazelton.

For sockeye tagged at the Skeena mouth late in June, areas as widespread as Moricetown, Kispiox and Babine were represented in the recoveries. The time taken for the sockeye to move from the point of tagging to the locality of recapture, as calculated from the dates of recovery submitted to the biological station, is considered to be the maximum. In other words, the fish might have taken considerably less time to arrive at the point where it was caught and the tag recovered, but it most certainly could not have taken longer. On the average, the fish remained in the lower reaches of the Skeena for 6.6 days. They reached Point Lambert in an average of 5.3 days, Terrace in 10.7, Kitselas in 12.1, Hazelton and Kispiox in 18, Moricetown in 22 and Babine Lake in 38 days. The year's migration was slower than in 1944, and was believed due to much lower water in the rivers during most of the summer.
