The Speech From the Throne

The Speech from the Throne at the opening of the session of Parliament at Ottawa tells us nothing in the way of projected legislation which we might not logically have expected. Naturally world reconstruction and enduring peace will be basic subjects of consideration. Everything everywhere in the world depends upon what progress is made along these lines and every nation, large or small, has its responsibility.

As to the specific legislation which the government, through the formal document of the "Speech from the Throne," recommends to Parliament for enactment, the approval of the loan to the United Kingdom will, we suppose, be almost automatically given along the most generous of lines.

Redistribution of representation in the House of Commons is due and must be arranged although there may be some bickering about it.

Provision for armed forces may produce some wide differences of opinion but it is to be assumed that the differences will be based on to what extent such armed forces are deemed necessary and over the type they should be.

Completion of consideration of a "Veterans' Charter" pose the problem of seeing that the obligations to those who fought for us and saved us are fully lived up to without evasion or equivocation. Our legislators will, we trust, tolerate nothing Dealing with the bill to clarify the definition of Canadian citizenship should be a fairly simple matter. About all the most of people want is to be able to legally call themselves "Canadians" with reasonable privileges as such under the precepts of liberty and democracy.

The intention of giving permanent legislative effect to a number of orders-in-council might cover a lot of contentious ground. There are a lot of unpopular orders-in-council.

Character building begins in youth and such a start has been made by carrier boys who in one Canadian city alone bought more than $40,000 worth of war bonds—purchased real estate—set up savings accounts—and in many instances, bought all their own clothing.

Coal Bunker Need Shown

Blairmore, Alberta, collieries have been able to undertake the filling of an order to export thirty thousand tons of slack coal, dump residue, to China and the first cargo is now on its way from Seattle to Hong Kong. Recently, the Bulkley Valley Collieries at Telkwa had the opportunity to export a similarly large amount of coal over a period of time and was ready to make an experimental shipment but the whole deal fell through because there were no coal handling facilities at Prince Rupert. The Telkwa colliery lost the business and the port of Prince Rupert lost the traf-

There can be a lot more coal exported from Canada in the next few years and one of the important factors will be the terminal facilities for handling it. Such facilities are one of the few things that Prince Rupert now lacks as an up-to-date and well equipped world port. Were they here they could be used not only for the exporting of coal from this immediate district but also from at least as far away as Alberta which we see today shipping its export coal through Seattle.

It is to be noted that the possibilities of coal export from the district which would be opened up by the continuation of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway through Prince George to the Peace River loom rather large as in justification for the undertaking of such new railway construction. Neither should be forgotten those vast fields of superlative coal lying further west in the Groundhog country and one of the greatest natural resources of the hinterland back of Prince Rupert which one fine day must be opened up with this as the coast outlet port.

Newspapers containing the text of the U.S. State Department's blue book on Argentina commanded premium prices in that country where a controlled press enslaves public opinion.

SINO-SOVIET REPORT ROUSES ANGRY SHOUTS

CHUNGKING (P)-A report on Sino-Soviet discussions on economic co-operation in Manchuria roused heated shouts of down" at the Kuimintang (National party) congress here today as withdrawing Russian troops moved toward Siberia.

China's special commissioner for economic affairs to Manchuria said that President Chiang Kai Shek had told him last December not to recognize Russian claims to Japanese industrial equipment there as war

He said that he was instructed further to refuse to discuss Sino-Soviet economic co-operation before the withdrawal of the Soviet forces. He emphasized that no agreement on economic co-operation had been reached but several times angry shouts interrupted his report.

Salvation Army Adjutant Says No Japanese to Be Trusted

MONTREAL (P) - Margaret Burns, Montreal Salvation Army Adjutant who spent three years from the corner of Third Ave- in a Japanese internment camp nue and McBride Street to Cow at Singapore, said in an interview here following her arrival tion here. It would, of course, from overseas, "Never trust a Jap-not a single one of them is decent."

WHAT DOES RUPERT NEED? WILL YOU GIVE YOUR VIEWS?

There is much discussion these days of problems and difficulties which face Prince Rupert in its postwar development and prosperity and what solutions might be devised towards solving these problems.

Many of these problems have been discussed in the Daily News from time to time but this newspaper is anxious to obtain some new and constructive ideas and, therefore, we are inviting our readers to express their views on the subject of

WHAT PRINCE RUPERT NEEDS TODAY?

You are invited to enunciate what you consider Prince Rupert's needs and to write a concise answer as to how best that need might be solved.

The articles will be published (with or without the names of the authors, according to wish of the writers). They will be judged impartially on the primary basis of value of subject matter although conciseness, style and legibility will also count.

Mayor H. M. Daggett and W. M. Watts have consented to assist the Daily News in the judging.

There will be six prizes:

First, $10 in cash. Second, $5 in cash. Third, $2.50 in cash.

And three six-month subscriptions to the Daily News. The contest will close March 15.

Old and young alike are asked to submit articles.

The primary purpose is, of course, not to win prizes but to bring forward suggestions which may prove useful in forwarding the development of Prince Rupert.
