Truman Enunciates Foreign Policy

Protection of Weak is Synote of U.S. Plan

Calls for Powerful Peacetime Reserves To Prevent Coercion and Penetration

CHICAGO (CP)—President Truman said today that he had proclaimed a "universal" foreign policy for the United States aimed at stopping "coercion and penetration" of the weak and calling for powerful peacetime reserves.

Truman was speaking at an Army Day celebration and renewed his appeal for extension of the Selective Service Act, unification of armed services and universal training program.

The president said that one universal policy must guide United States relations with every country no matter how remote.

The chief executive said that, in return for American recognition of "important interests" of Britain and Russia and others in the Orient, these countries must respect American interests in peace and security in that area, adding that the United States shall expect them to pursue the same peaceful objectives.

Requests of Labor

Field Covered by C.C.L. in Representations to Union Government

OTTAWA — The Canadian Congress of Labor, in a brief to federal government yesterday by President A. R. Mosher, Secretary Pat Conroy, asked action on housing, increased employment insurance, review of the cost of living index, establishment of a permanent bureau of standards to protect the consumer.

peacetime national labor law with terms more favorable than those of the war-time code was asked.

The C.C.L. gave the Dominion government formal notice that it was seeking general increases and demanded abolition of the wartime wage control order with continued price controls.

The Congress, discussing price and wage regulations in brief, said it "reserves the right to protect living standards of the workers of Canada and their families as well as of the Canadian public by whatever means it may find necessary to use."

The brief also asked for consideration of the possibility of extending exemptions on income tax to $1500 for single persons and $2000 for married persons.

The Congress criticized the government for failing to make adequate reconversion plans.

Police Capture Man in Act of Robbing Oil Company Office

Hector McMillan Reid, a civilian crew member of the navy tug Glendevon, is in police custody today charged with shopbreaking after two city police constables on night patrol found a man in the act of ransacking the waterfront office of the Union Oil Co. at 3:15 this morning.

Constables Malcolm Stevens and Ernest Zorn patrolling the Cow Bay area spotted the man when they flashed their flashlights into the oil company office while on routine patrol early this morning. They entered the office and pursued the man to the attic where he had retreated at the approach of the police.

The office, the police said, had been ransacked, and a cash drawer broken open, but the small amount of money in it had not been taken.

Constable Stevens said that when he flashed his light into the oil company office, he saw the head of a man who was crouched behind some office furniture.

The attempted robbery was the second entry into an oil company office this week. Earlier in the week the office of the Home Oil Co. was entered and $55 taken from a cash drawer.

According to the police, Reid arrived here from Victoria on Monday on the Navy tug Glendevon, which is transporting scows loaded with Navy equipment to Esquimalt from the dismantled Prince Rupert base. Reid is a civilian member of the Glendevon crew.

According to Constable Stevens, the office had been ransacked by the prowler in his search for loot, and even the charts of the oil tank positions, tacked to the office walls, had been removed, presumably in a search for concealed money.

Fish Fleet Tie-up Seen

International Halibut Fishing Tie-up on This Coast Looms

VANCOUVER—Threat of an international Pacific coast halibut fleet tie-up similar to that of 1944 arose today as British Columbia fishermen studied their situation in the light of the demand by Seattle halibutters for a 20 per cent increase in fish price ceilings.

If Seattle halibutters go on strike British Columbia men will likely stay in port as they would be in difficult position because of quota allocations on international basis with the opening of the halibut season—May 1—less than a month away.

This situation, coupled with the fact that halibutters are already in dispute with fish companies over another matter, carries threat of costly fishing strikes.

Delegates Are Named

For Annual Meeting of B.C. Teachers' Federation

At the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert and District Teachers' Association held this week in the upper lounge of the Civic Centre, with president J. S. Wilson in the chair, principal business concerned preparation for the twenty-sixth annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation to be held in Vancouver April 22-23.

Delegates to the meeting from Prince Rupert were selected in the persons of Miss E. A. Mercer, Miss D. Kirkpatrick, and B. Mickleburgh. J. S. Wilson will also be in attendance as geographical representative for this area.

Leading objective of the Federation for the coming year will be the securing of compulsory Federation membership for all teachers in the province to be enacted into the Public Schools Act by the next session of the Legislature. Since most Canadian provinces already have such legislation, the coming convention is expected to lay down plans for mobilizing the full strength of the membership and of public opinion to bring B.C. up to the standard set by other provinces in this matter.

Resolutions submitted by teachers' associations in B.C. to the annual meet were before the local gathering for discussion, dealing with a wide range of subjects from salaries to curriculum revision.

Amendments to the Public Schools Act now before the Legislature were also discussed and action taken in reference to some which, it was thought, might tend to undermine the professional status of teachers.

SAYS HITLER WAS GENIUS

But Too Atrocious for Him, Field Marshal Keitel Tells Nuernberg Court

NUERNBERG — Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel told the international military tribunal yesterday that Adolf Hitler was a military genius with more knowledge than the highest ranking professional soldiers of Germany. In carrying out atrocities Keitel said he had only followed instructions and had quarrelled with Hitler as to what had gone on.

Keitel told how he had tried in vain to have British aviators returned to prison camp from which they had escaped in 1944 but was shouted down by Hitler who ordered Heinrich Himmler to take charge of them.

Six Canadians attached to the Royal Air Force and 44 British airmen were shot in March, 1944, following their mass escape from a German prison camp near Dresden. Most of the shootings were carried out summarily when the escapees were recaptured.

Keitel, former chief of German High Command, testifying for the third day in his own defence, swore it was not for several days after a stormy session with Hitler that he learned the fliers had been shot.

Lists Worst Acts

Keitel today listed for the tribunal the "three worst things I had to do against my conscience" in serving Hitler. He said they were:

1. Ordering warfare in Russia against civilized rules.

2. Sanctioning Gestapo execution of 50 escaped Royal Air Force prisoners of war including six Canadians in 1944 and invoking lynch law against "terror" fliers.

3. Issuing a decree for the lynching of patriots in occupied western countries.

Keitel admitted signing these orders but said they had come from Hitler.

Two Billion Dollars of Treasure Out of Mud

Japanese Army Officers Had Talked And Small Businessmen Helped to Reveal Secret to Allied Authorities

TOKYO (CP)—A geisha girl's tip led Saturday to the discovery of two truckloads of precious metal ingots believed to be worth $2,000,000,000 in the mud of Tokyo Bay. The informant said she had been told by Japanese army officers that the money was to be used "in building up Greater Japan after things have been quieted down."

The ingots were located by United States military government officials.

There were indications that the girl's tip was sponsored by a small social club composed of elderly Japanese small shopkeepers who did not want the militarists to get hold of the fortune.

WOULD OWN ALL POWER

Or None, Winch Demands—Province Should Take Over B.C.E.R. and West Kootenay

VICTORIA — Second reading of a bill to increase the borrowing power of the British Columbia Power Commission from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000 gave the opposition further chance in the Legislature yesterday to demand that the government take over the British Columbia Electric Railway Co. and the West Kootenay Power & Light Co.

Harold Winch, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation opposition, contended that there could be no province-wide public-owned electrification while two big monopolies were allowed control of 75 per cent of the power produced in the province.

500 TREATMENTS OF VACCINE DUE

Prince Rupert Taking Precautions Against Spread of Oriental Smallpox Here

Smallpox vaccine for about 500 treatments is expected to arrive in Prince Rupert today as a safeguard against the possible spread of oriental type smallpox which broke out about 10 days ago in American west coast cities. The shipment is said to be adequate to meet local demand, which has been stimulated because of the scare.

Information was given to the Prince Rupert and District Union Board of Health at its regular meeting Friday afternoon by Miss Joyce Leslie R.N., director of nurses at the health unit. About 200 of the city's school children will be inoculated, as well as another 200 adults who have requested the safeguard.

No cases of the oriental scourge, said to have been brought to this continent by American servicemen returning from the Orient, have been found in this district.

Dr. W. S. Kergin, director of the local health unit said earlier this week that every precaution is being taken to keep the disease from getting a start.

Re-arrangement of the quarters of the Health Unit, possibly including expansion to include the former Red Cross rooms which adjoin, was discussed by the meeting. The present quarters, it was agreed, were congested and the lack of space is felt particularly while the various clinics are in operation.

A committee consisting of Alderman Nora Arnold, Health Board chairman, Miss Leslie and Alderman George Hills was appointed to make arrangements for expanding the quarters. It was suggested that $1,300 which the health unit received as a rebate covering the cost of V. D. clinic from the provincial government, be used to cover the cost.

Contemplated among the changes is the construction of a "baby buggy garage," in which mothers could place their "prams" while they take their children to the well baby clinics.

Present at the meeting were Alderman Arnold, chairman, Mrs. F. M. Hall, Terrace representative, Mrs. Earl Becker, Alderman Hills, Alderman Clifford Ham, Miss Joyce Leslie, and Miss Olive Johnston of the nurse staff, Inspector of Schools E. E. Hyndman and M. J. Harper, sanitarian.
