Construction of Co-op Liver Plant Is Started at Westview

Construction work on the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative's new $70,000 fish liver processing plant at Westview has begun, constituting the greatest single construction item on the list of building permits taken out in July. July building permits total issued by the city engineer's office totalled $81,650, bringing the year's total so far to $198,490.

Permit for the new processing plant was taken out on July 27 by the Dominion Construction Co. of Vancouver, the building contractor, and preliminary work has already started. The building will be a two-story reinforced concrete structure of 121 by 41 feet dimensions, and will be situated alongside the other newly-built structures of the Co-op at Westview.

WEATHERMAN DEPRESSED DURING JULY

An unpredictable fellow at best, the Weatherman slipped into a depressed mood during July, weeping copiously during the latter part of the month. His tears, in fact, covered the countryside to a watery depth of 6.53 inches, according to the Digby Island meteorological station's monthly report.

Finding little in human affairs to make him happy, he allowed the sun to shine through for only a brief 83 bright hours during the month, a comedown from the June total of 103.9 hours.

Total rainfall so far this year stands at 48.99 inches which is in fact, only a slight mist compared with the 52 inches which fell during the same period in 1945. Hours of bright sunshine this year so far total 563, which is a bit better than the 484 hours for the seven-month period last year.

Average temperature during July was 55.5 degrees, while the maximum was 68 and the minimum 46. Wind during the month reached an extreme velocity of 18 miles an hour from the southeast on July 11, 24 and 30.

Maximum barometric pressure was 30.39 inches while the minimum for the month was 29.68.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis
Cool, cloudy weather has prevailed over British Columbia for the past 24 hours with maximum temperatures yesterday below the seasonable normal. Vancouver's highest temperature was 63, just 13 degrees lower than the late July average, while Victoria with 66, was one of the few places in B.C. recording a temperature near the mid-summer normal. General improvement in weather is expected today especially for the southern coastal districts as a high pressure area builds over the province from the west.

Forecast

The Daily News will endeavor to keep its readers posted on the progress of the "gold medal" journey.

Fears 'New' International

Solon Low Fears Canada Is Heading for Terrible Disaster

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and other countries of the world are "heading for disaster on a scale terrible to contemplate" and more menacing than anything in the past, Hon. Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit party, said in a political broadcast over Canadian Broadcasting Corporation last night.

He called on Canadians to "awaken to the peril" of the new internationalism which he said was attempting to set up a "world socialist-communist dictatorship." Canadians, he said, must make loyalty to Canada "supremely dynamic."

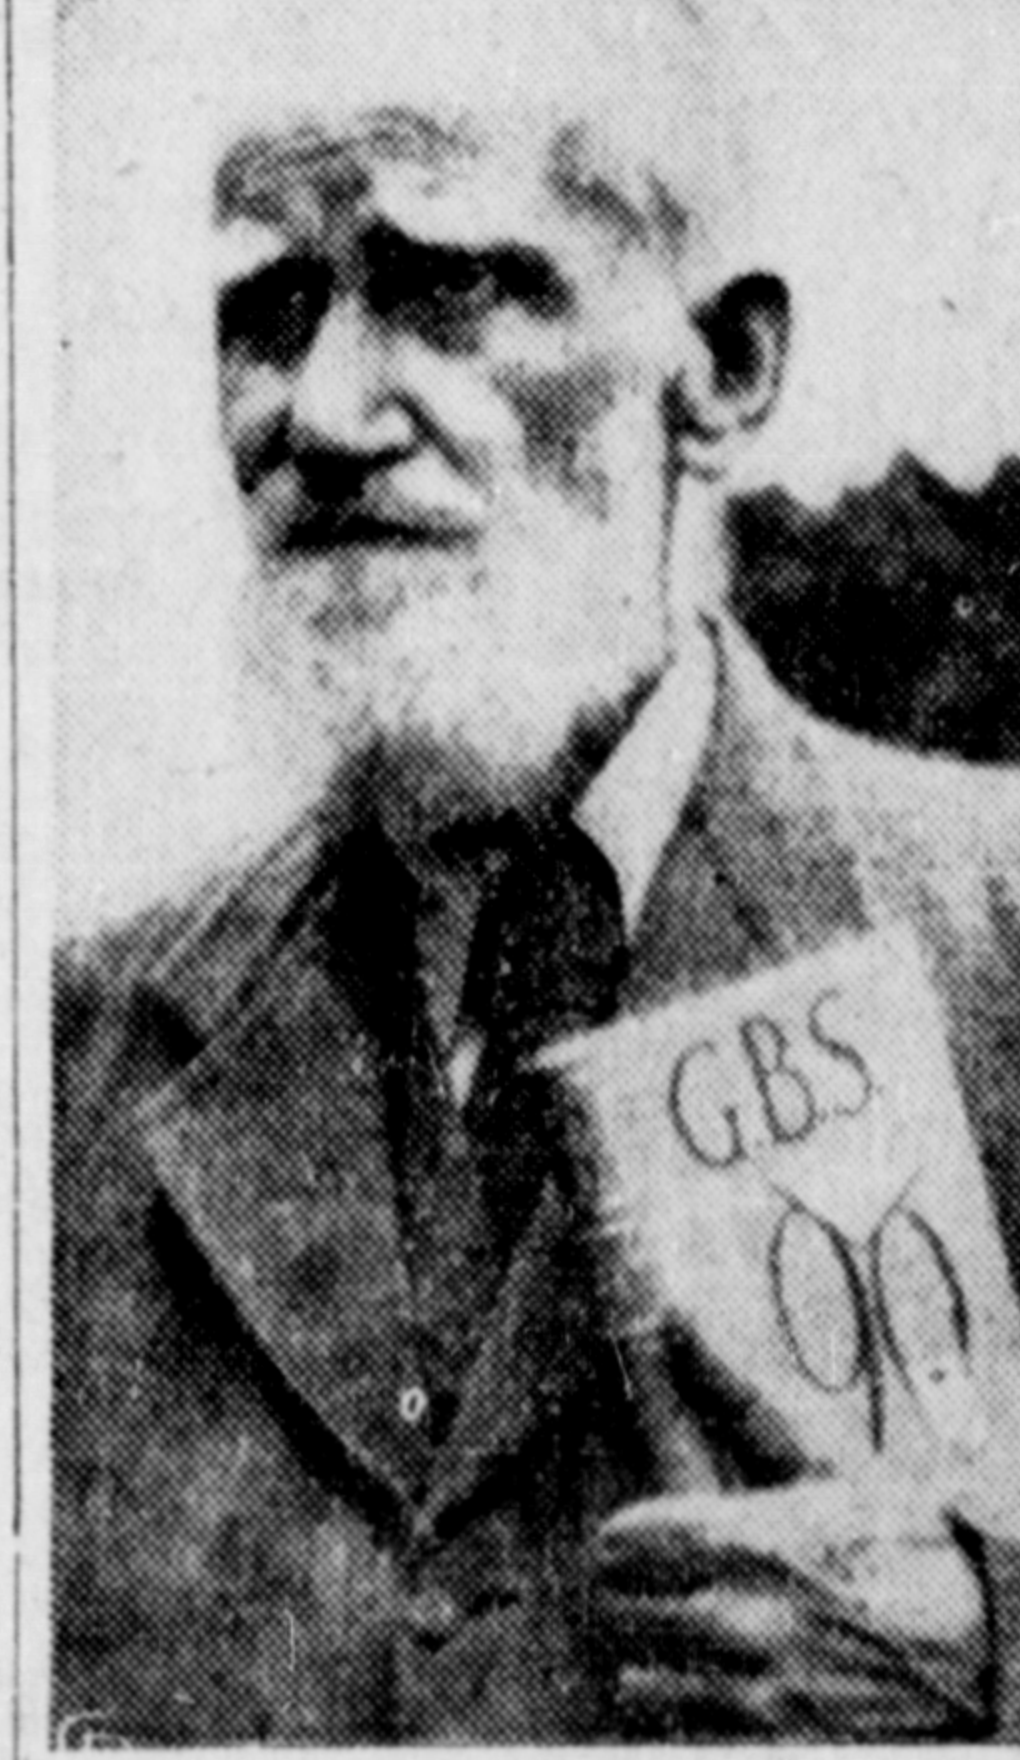

Manitoba's New Deal

Agreement With Ottawa to Be Consummated at Conference in September

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Stewart Gawn of Manitoba said yesterday that Manitoba and Dominion government officials will meet in early autumn to consummate a new formal tax agreement between the two governments.

Garson said, after three days of discussion here, that a draft agreement had been drawn up and will be submitted shortly to Manitoba and federal governments.

The agreement is on the basis that Manitoba would agree not to collect personal income or inheritance taxes for a period of five years and would limit corporation income tax to five per cent.

NONAGENARIAN—Holding a copy of his birthday book under his arm, George Bernard Shaw, author, playwright, wit, philosopher, greatest man in English letters—and vegetarian—is shown in the garden of his home at Welwyn, Herefordshire. Shaw is 90 years old and still dispenses the same caustic wit for which he is famed. He became a member of the Centenarian club recently and announced his retirement age as "300."

Rome Is Shocked Italians Are Painfully Impressed by Severe Terms of Peace Pact

Once Boasted War Machine Slashed Almost to Comic Opera Size—Mussolini's Empire Trimmed to Thin Boot

ROME (CP)—The government of Italy is "painfully impressed" by the "harshness" of the terms of the peace treaty which has been proposed to the Paris conference. "Economic clauses of the treaty threaten the whole future of the country," declares a government statement.

Italy's once boasted war machine would be slashed almost to comic opera size and the Mussolini empire that threatened to rival Caesar's would be trimmed to be a thin boot by the draft of the proposed treaty.

On these and other penalties for making war—notably the payment of $100,000,000 in reparations to Russia—Britain, the United States, France and Russia are agreed in the treaty submitted to the 21-power European peace conference.

But other disputed questions, such as the boundaries of the suggested free territory of Trieste and reparations due to France, Yugoslavia, Greece and other victims of Italy's participation in the war, were left open although the United States offered its own solution to the Trieste question.
