INFLATION NEAR HERE

ONE DOES NOT have to go far V from Prince Rupert to see inflation in action and the consequences of the premature release of such controls as in Canada are still keeping at least within reasonable bounds the effects which are produced when a strong purchasing power and buying demand on the one hand meet with a scarcity of goods on the other.

Even in Ketchikan, but a scant eighty miles or less from here, meals such as cost $1.25 in Prince Rupert bring $3. There is no butter whatever available in the "First City" of Alaska. Other prices are relatively sky high and a lot of goods are in short supply at least on the legitimate markets.

Yes, wages are high and also slipping out of control but, with all the high wages in Alaska and the United States, the purchasing power of money is relatively less in that country owing to the excessively high prices of goods.

The war-instituted policy of wage and price control, as now practised in Canada, has benefited and will continue to benefit the Canadian worker by protecting his living standards and avoiding an inflationary rise in prices, which would cancel the advantage gained by an increase in his real wages during the war years and since.

During the last war and up to today Canada has managed by means of price control to maintain a general price level in this country which has enabled wage earners to purchase goods and services at reasonable prices. This is in striking contrast to conditions in many other countries where, due to failure to control prices, the purchasing power of wages is much less than before the war and the standard of living is lowered to that extent.

Wage stabilization is necessary because wages form a very considerable part of the cost of producing the goods and services we all must use. The real value of wages depend upon their purchasing power. Increases in money wages unless they can be taken care of by employers out of profits already existing. are bound to increase the cost of goods and services.

European children who have survived the horror of invasion and the squalor of life under enemy occupation are clad in rags. These pathetic victims of War's aftermath are in desperate need of clothing. To relieve their misery an urgent appeal is made to every Canadian family to ransack their attics, wardrobes. and trunks and contribute every serviceable garment that they can spare to the National Clothing Collection. Local depots will be announced shortly.

Appeal for Financial Support To Be Made

At their regular monthly meet- place. ing last evening in the Civic Centre the executive of the Navy the local Captain Cook Corps of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets on their recent very successful activities. The manner in which the corps put on and conducted its dance, the fine showing made at the annual inspection, their splendid contribution to the Victoria Day celebration by the smart turnout of the guard-ofhonor and the bugle band, all brought praise from the Navy League.

A review of the cost of operating the local Sea Cadets Corps bought out the fact that upwards of $1,520 was spent last year. While it was felt that this was a large sum of money and that each item of expense had been carefully kept to a minimum, it was also felt that it was a good investment. The value to the lads themselves and indirectly to the community could not be evaluated in dollars and cents. However it was also emphasized that the maintenance of the corps was a respensibility of the parents of the cadets primarily and then of the community as a whole. With this n mind, arrangements for the forthcoming tag day and canvass of the parents and citizens to become members were carefully reviewed.

WE WALK THE

We are a fortunate people. We walk the middle road. Through our Government's wise measures of control, we have, by resisting the temptation to rush after luxuries, been able to enjoy them in moderation.

We have, by keeping necessities at the top of our buying lists, kept the prices of both necessities and luxuries at the bottom. Hardly another nation in the world today can point to so fine a record.

Yes, we are a fortunate people because we walk the middle road—the road of moderation in all things-in our thinking, in our actions and in our pleasures.

In the years of greater abundance, which are so surely ahead, The House of Seagram believes that moderation, as always, will continue to be a quality essential to the welfare of the nation—and the individual.

Men who Think of Tomorrow . . . Practice Moderation Today!
