Moose Fall Before Savoy

One-Sided Game Ends in 9-1 Score

With their morale high after downing Waits and Niekerson to win their second victory of the season Sunday afternoon, the Moose baseball team felt the sustaining power of their recent win for three innings on the Roosevelt Park field last night and then succumbed to a 9-1 defeat at the hands of their implacable chasteners, Savoy's.

The fraternal brothers started off in inspiring manner with a triple by Victor Dell of the first pitched ball. However, neither right fielder Dell nor his teammates could support the promise of that first hit.

Savoy, on the other hand, started late. It was not until the third inning that they got on the board with a run scored off a single by pitcher Don McDonald.

The game was well larded with good hitting. While Moose marked off upon two hits against pitcher McDonald, both were three-baggers. In addition to Dell's initial blow, Moose pitcher Stu Henry unclosed another triple in the second inning.

Behind their nine runs, five of which were brought in in the sixth inning, Savoy's chucked up 13 hits. First baseman Joe Davis slammed a triple in the sixth, and Miner Simundson swatted a double in the third.

Don McDonald, Savoy's unpredictable toiler put in his best performance of the season at both ends of the groove. He shut out six batters, allowed two hits, and passed two on balls. At bat, he came through with three hits
