"HEALTHY" RATIONS

WJGAN, Eng., D-Explaining that Wigan's death rate last year was the lowest in its history, Alderman T. Ramsden of the community's health committee said: "Under ration people don't get the chance to dig their own graves with their teeth. Rationing - despite shortages, austerity and queues-is good for us and people are healthy."

School Wall Colors Affect Pupils' Work

Reports issued by the Nationa Education Association in regard to the effect of colors on children's work in schools have been reviewed with interest by educational officials in B.C.

The National Education experts claimed that brown classrooms tended to put children to sleep. Blue rooms were cold and gave younger children the idea they were not loved, while the classrooms painted yellow or pale green were found to do most
