

PASSING OF NOTED M.P.

the Union Nationale administration was returned to office.

That act was perhaps the climax of a career in politics to which almost half of Mr. Cardin's life-span was devoted. He was active from the opening of the campaign until it ended with a victory for a new government headed by Premier Adélard Godbout.

WAS STRONG FOR NATIONAL UNITY

Up and down the province, Mr. Cardin preached national unity, calling for a great effort toward "unity—not for material welfare, not for the interests of a group, but for the spirit of Canada, for without this spirit we cannot come to the fulfillment of our heritage."

"We have a problem of race and one of religion," he said. "But we must not make the mistake of breaking the branches of the Canadian family tree; that tree must be strong and whole."

Eloquent in his native tongue, Mr. Cardin was a magnetic platform speaker, sometimes compared for his oratory with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. When he first was appointed to the cabinet in 1924 his knowledge of English was scanty, although he had been in the House of Commons there for 13 years.

He made his first English speech a short time afterwards during a Canadian tour with Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the course of which Prince Rupert was visited. Later he became fluent in English and equally as effective as in his mother tongue.

During his long political career, Mr. Cardin was at his oratorical best on the hustings, a short sturdy figure, strong-voiced and whose choice of language and smooth inflection would have done credit to a diction teacher.

Pierre Joseph Arthur Cardin was born in Sorel, Que., June 28, 1879, son of Joseph Cardin and Virginie Ferron. He received his early education at Sorel Commercial College, and later attended Laval University in Quebec City where he graduated in law.

WAS NEVER DEFEATED

He entered practice in Sorel but took interest in politics and was but 32 when he ran for the House of Commons seat of Richelieu-Vercheres in 1911. He was elected, unseated on a technicality and promptly returned in a by-election the following year.

Not once during the years until 1941 did Arthur Cardin meet defeat. Twice he was returned by the electors of Richelieu-Vercheres, which he always represented, by acclamation.

Usually in semi-formal attire, dark, short jacket, white-piped waistcoat, grey striped trousers, starched collar and starched cuffs, Mr. Cardin became known as one of the best dressed men in parliament. In 1909 he married Rosa, daughter of J. B. M. E. Casavant of Sorel, Que.

Whifflets

From The Waterfront

After a two weeks' voyage as far south as Egg Island in Queen Charlotte Sound engaged in routine servicing of the light-houses in tervening waters, light house tender Birnie, Capt. A. F. Davidson, returned to port safely at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The vessel was a little later in returning than had been expected owing to having had some extra work to do. Her radio transmitter had been out of order and she was unable to report since last Wednesday night which led to inquiries going out over the air during the week-end as to her whereabouts.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 11:45 last night from Vancouver and waypoints and sailed early this morning in continuation of her voyage to Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning southbound.

King and Queen Pray For Peace

LONDON—The King and Queen attended a special service of intercession for peace in St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday. The Archbishop of Canterbury declared that lasting peace could only be obtained with a spiritual peace and sacrifice.

FIVE SEARCHERS SEEK MISSING MAN ON PORCHER

Bearing five men, the trolling boat Keno II, Capt. Ivor Eldsvick, left the Cow Bay Fishermen's floats at 9 o'clock this morning to start what probably will be the final search for Hans Jacobsen, 73-year-old deer hunter, missing on Porcher Island since October 4.

The small party was organized Sunday by Roy Jacobsen, the missing man's son, who came from Winnipeg last week in the hope that his father's remains might be found and given decent burial.

The young man, who served here with the R.C.A.F. during the war, believes that there is little hope of finding his father alive after almost three weeks. Assisting Mr. Jacobsen in organizing the search was Gunnar Selvig of the Sons of Norway. The organization also led a 30-man search last week which was unsuccessful in finding the missing man in the dense Porcher Island bush.

Also with the party was Martin Gunderson, hunting partner

LOOK AT IT LEAK

... and they THOUGHT they had a Duroid Roof!

Yes, many a home-owner has found to his sorrow that what he thought was a Genuine Duroid Roof, is just another asphalt roof. There is only ONE Genuine Duroid Roof, and it's made to last for years. It's made with a base of the best rag-felt, the long fibres of which give great durability.

Because of the extra value and extra service built into Genuine Duroid Roofs, the demand has increased tremendously. But even with greatly increased production, they may be hard to get a times. Still, don't settle for "second best". Wait just a little longer for a Genuine Duroid Roof. Look for the Sidney Seal of Quality on every bundle.

It is a Genuine DUROID ROOF ONLY if it is made by
