SATURDAY SERMON

By REV. J. A. McALLISTER, Knox United Church, Terrace
In Him, who strengthened me, I am able for anything.
Phil. 4:13 (Moffat)

As we read our New Testament, especially the Acts and the Epistles, most of us feel a certain wistfulness. It is so full of men and women charged with a secret power which, frankly, so few of us possess. Wherever they went and whenever they touched other lives, they gave that impression of

Gladys Nilson
Shower Honoree

Two score friends and relatives honored Miss Gladys Nilson, bride-to-be, at her home with a surprise shower on Wednesday evening. Miss Nilson was presented with a scrap book, a luxurious woolen blanket, an embroidered tea cloth, and several towels by the guests.

The evening's entertainment consisted of an embroidering contest on tea towels and a session of bingo. Winner of first prize for embroidery was Miss Agnes Jacobson, the consolation prize going to Miss Laura Beck.

During lunch, those present had their fortunes told.

on Me... out of his heart shall flow rivers of living water." (John 8:37-8). Christ is the channel, the transformer that makes available to us all the resources of the universe. He is waiting to give you that deep inner serenity you so sorely need. Will you make room in your life for that fellowship with God without which it cannot come? It is never a waste of time in the morning, or at midday, or in the evening to thrust aside—for five minutes, ten minutes, an hour if you like—those insistent, pressing cares and to rest one's weary soul on God. You will come back with greater poise and steadiness from the secret place of the Most High.

"So amid the rush,
"The whirl, the hum, the pressure of my day
"I feel Thy garments' sweep
"Thy seamless dress,
"And close beside my work and weariness
"Discuss Thy gracious form."

TRUE STIMULANT
Tea is a true stimulant giving heightened action to all bodily functions and its outstanding medical value is that it has no "let-down" or unpleasant after-effects.

The experience afforded newspaper carrier boys does not jeopardize their academic studies as illustrated by David Jamieson of Halifax, a carrier boy for the past two years, who has won a scholarship at King's College.

There are fewer things in life more wearing to the nerves than to face life, or some task in life, with deficient spiritual resources. "That is the real cause of Adam," wrote C. E. Montague, "not the work itself but the worry and doubt of getting it done." Hounded by the pressure of tasks still to be done, we work under constant strain. We are almost driven to distraction by the consciousness of our inadequacy.

And so we never cease to marvel at the serenity of Christ in the Gospels. In spite of all the demands made upon his time and energy, he never had the look of one who has reached his limit. There was always more behind and within. Whence sprang such marvellous resources? Was it not in the times of prayer and fellowship He enjoyed with His Father in lonely garden or on desolate mountain side? There He renewed His strength and equipped Himself with power for the tasks of each new day.

In an hour that demands great services and poses great problems, we cannot afford to be without adequate resources. We cannot stand up to life without them. We need to tap every possible source of power. It is the glory of Christianity that it makes such resources available. Christ offers a new kind of power, fresh resources. "If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink. He who believes
