United States Designers Underscore High Fashion in Gowns of Luxury Quality and Metallic Colors

By ANN WORCESTER Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK ()-Gold and silver threads woven into stiff brocades, duchess satin in shining copper colors and an abundance of softly draped silksreal silks--will be important features in this winter's ward

Leading United States dres designers showed an already well-dressed audience at the Ritz how they could become better dressed at a fashion show sponsored by a firm of silk manufacturers. Among the designers represented were Hattie Carnegie, Adrian, Omar Kiam Jo Copeland, Nettie Rosenstein and Suzanne. Most of the dresses shown were evening gown and formal cocktail dresses.

Skirts ranged from elangated fish tails to elaborate bouffant The former was admirably illustrated by Jo Copeland's emerald green satin evening gown glittering with gold and silver fishes. Under rounded hips swathed in a softly draped sash the bias skirt tapered to the ground.

The sash around the hips was repeated in an elliptically drapwool ed cowl neck line. What might have seemed angular and straight is softened into a long curving line.

> Most striking dress in Miss Copeland's mermaid outline was a slim black crepe slashed to the waist and further enlivened by a poison green fringed scarf dipped low in the back and drawn up through the belt in

Hattie Carnegie, eschowin such underwater fancies, prefers more elaborately draped hiplines and full skirts. Her designs were ultra-feminine featuring a modified leg o'mutton sleeve whose fulness tapers softly to tightness on the fore-mysterious dark metal color which she calls Govelin blue.

Most romantic of all the evening dresses shown was her floral brocade with voluminous skirt and tightly fitted, draped bodice in a darkly metallic, shimmering purple.

Adrian showed a dramatic copper tinsel and black brocade dress which he named the "atom smasher." The upper part, shining black with large round copper spots ended diagonally in the middle of the skirt which continued in spangled copper with black spots.

That designers no longer want to turn women into Regency bucks or Victorian milkmaids should comfort everyone. Only history-inspired dress in the collection was a straight, short black crepe whisper from the 20's by Nettie Rosenstein with a jot-lace bolero thrown over bare shoulders. The show's basic color scheme was dark with light and bright-and what glittering brightly was often gold. Pure gold was Omar Kiam's gold-threaded damask gilded with pale gold sequins. His elegant poppy-red taffeta ball gown with its wide skirt, full over hips and stomach, and with poppies springing from the shouldars illustrated well the timelessness of his own contri-

The List That Shows Who and Where

If you are an EATON customer there is a stencil of your name and address at EATON'S Mail Order in Winnipeg. Your stencil. with hundreds of thousands of others, makes up the mailing list. Space is a problem, but the hard job is keeping this list up to date. It would be easy if people just remained the same; but they grow up, marry, die and about 7,000 of them move to new addresses every month. To keep track of all these changes requires the time of a large staff. YOU can help, too, by notifying us of any change of address. All this work is done so that EATON'S customers receive EATON'S Catalogue regularly.
