MARRIAGE OF ALAN KERGIN

Miss Phyllis Elizabeth Vogan Is His Bride at Walkerton, Ontario

In a setting of pink and white gladioli, St. Paul's United Church, Walkerton, Ontario, on Saturday, August 17, Phyllis Elizabeth, Older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vogan, became the bride of Dr. Alan James Kergin, only son of Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Kergin, Prince Rupert. Rev. A. K. Edmison officiated. "At Dawning" and "God Hath Not Promised" were beautifully rendered by Dr. J. T. H. Robinson accompanied by Mrs. Robinson at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in dotted marquisette and basket weave lace, over slipper satin, with finger tip veil and carried a shower bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and maiden hair fern.

Miss Raye Vogan was her sister's only attendant, wearing coral crepe, with a leghorn hat, carrying a bouquet of talisman roses.

John Pequegnaut of Kitchener was groomsmen and the ushers were Dr. Archie MacKinnon of Toronto, and Ross McGillivray of Port Elgin.

A reception was held at Pleasant Valley, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a black crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and stephanotis. She was assisted by the mother of the groom wearing a powder blue dress with wine and blue accessories and a corsage of dark red roses and stephanotis. For going away the bride chose a teal blue suit with black accessories, a silver fox fur and a corsage of stephanotis. Their honeymoon will be spent at Summerside, Prince Edward Island, and Boston, and they will reside in Halifax.

The groom was born and raised in Prince Rupert and graduated in medicine from University of Toronto two years ago. He is now serving as a surgeon-lieutenant in the Canadian Navy. The bride was a member of the nursing profession.

The couple will have the hearty congratulations of many friends in Prince Rupert.
