Chlorination

Chlorination of Vancouver's water supply will end March 31, it is officially announced, following decision of the city to drop the treatment now that the Army is no longer interested. The chlorination outfit at Vancouver will be turned over to War Assets Corporation for disposal like other surplus war materials and property.

In Prince Rupert a similar situation pertains in regard to chlorination. The Department of National Defence will no longer be chlorinating city water. At present the city is considering whether to take over the plant itself and operate it.

Some of the city fathers appear to be toying sympathetically with the idea but it is unlikely that it will get any further than that. There is, no doubt, a considerable feeling against chlorination at Prince Rupert. And, even most of those who might be sympathetic with it, may feel that the city could spend its money on more useful things.

Employment of Veterans

Prince Rupert employers are, doubtless, disposed to give preference to war veterans over other applicants for positions, their qualifications being equal. If the choice lies between a local or an outside veteran, the decision also, it is to be expected, would be in favor of the local man.

The boys with the local background may be expected to remain here while many of those coming in are merely shopping around and probably will not remain. A large portion of persons in many types of work who drift in tend to leave after a year or two. But the boy who was brought up here and comes back expects to make this his permanent life home and is worthy of first consideration.

Of course, it is true that some of the local boys will not be returning here and that, to replace them or offset them, some new veterans may well be absorbed in local business and industry. This is a normal state of affairs. New people bring new ideas and methods without which no area can progress or expand.

Looking For Good Times

Economic Conditions Never Better Than at Present, Says Railway Official

THREE RIVERS, Que.—Never have there existed economic conditions more favorable to high levels of production, consumption and employment, J. F. Pringle, vice-president and general manager, central region, Canadian National Railways, said to the Rotary Club here Tuesday. During the past 16 years, through depression and war, production for civilian use has been abnormally restricted, he said. There were shortages of dwellings and many articles required for personal and business use, while a huge purchasing power had been built up through war savings.

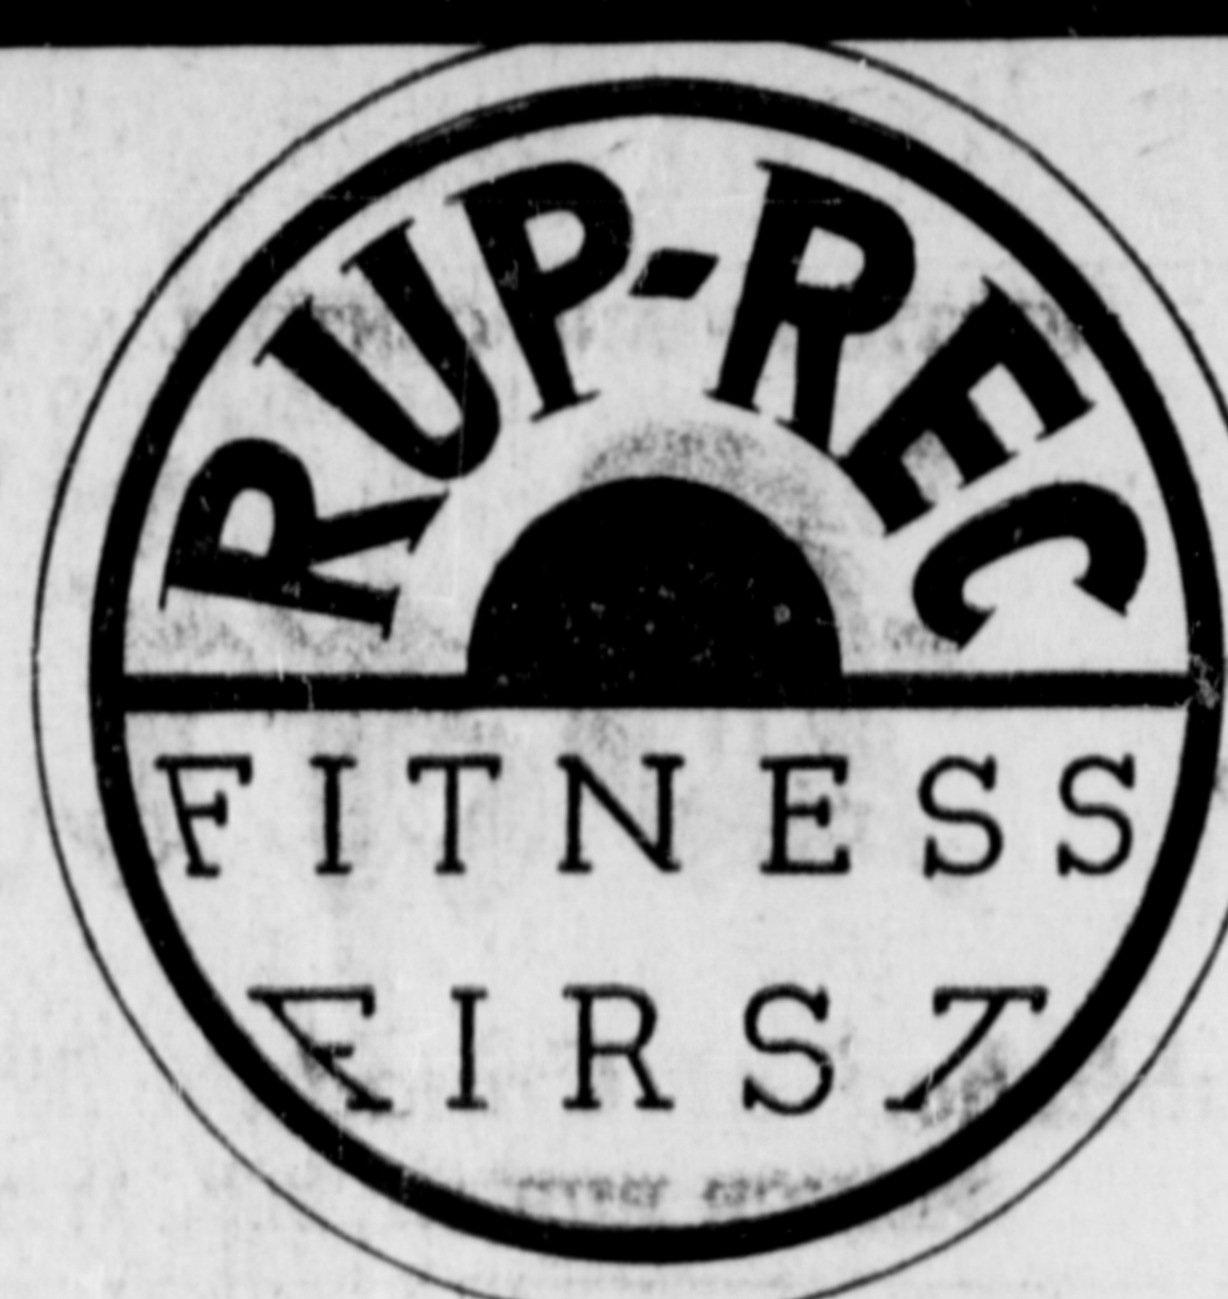

"World trade is bound to be one of the main features of our post-war prosperity," Mr. Pringle said. "Canada ranks as one of the world's largest trading nations and principal sources of food supply."

Providing 90 per cent of the country's land transportation requirements, the railways were the backbone of Canadian transportation, as was shown during the war, Mr. Pringle stated. Nevertheless they had strong competition from other forms of transportation and this would be accentuated.

"All that is needed to make our railways successful and enable them to continue to serve Canada as efficiently as they have in the past is a reasonable volume of traffic at compensatory rates," he pointed out. "I have little doubt as to the available traffic but this must be accompanied by fair competitive conditions brought about by a national transportation policy which will ensure each form of transportation performing the gaily best fitted."

LATE ARRIVAL

Even after 50 years of printing in England, there was no printed English Bible.

FIGURES—Attendance figures for all recreational classes held in the last four months when totalled appear quite staggering. During the months of September, October, November and December, 180 sports and recreational classes were conducted with a total attendance of 2645. Considering the condition of the gymnasias in which most of the classes were held, the response to recreative gymnastics has been highly satisfactory. When the Community Centre is finally obtained by the combined efforts of the Recreational Council and the Civic Centre Association and a thorough-going socio-cultural-recreational program is put into effect, the total attendance figures will be beyond all conception.

N. WESTMINSTER SCHOOL PLANS

NEW WESTMINSTER—School trustees have roughed out a new school building program which they estimate will cost in the vicinity of $1,000,000 over a five-year period.
Proceeding on the assumption that the provincial government will adopt the Cameron report and accordingly provide $500,000 of the funds needed, they drew up a tentative rejuvenation program for the Royal City's dilapidated, educational institutions which will include building of two large new schools, levelling of Howay and Lister buildings and additions to others.

IS TRANSFERRED TO VANCOUVER

"Bob" Sutherland Moving South in Service of Standard Oil Co.

Robert Sutherland, manager for the Standard Oil Co. of British Columbia at Prince Rupert since 1940, is being transferred to head office of the company in Vancouver and will leave for the south on Monday next. Mrs. Sutherland will be leaving for the south about two months later, it is expected.

Succeeding Mr. Sutherland in charge here will be N. R. Young who has been assistant manager for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland have made many good friends in Prince Rupert and will be missed.

"We were rushing to the grocer's before closing time . . .
Imagine a week-end without delicious Grape-Nuts Flakes!"
"I can't imagine it brother! Step on it and I'll provide a police escort down to the store so you'll be sure of getting your malty-rich, sweet-as-a-nut Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes!"
"OK—here we go! Bring on that Grape-Nuts Flakes' good nourishment: carbohydrates for energy, proteins for muscle, phosphorus for teeth and bones, iron for the blood, and other food essentials."
"They're good all right! That's because they're made of two grains—wheat and malted barley. And specially blended, baked and toasted for golden-brown delicious crispness and easy digestion."
"I think I'll get a couple of those giant economy packages."
