MR. HART SCORES

DRIME MINISTER JOHN HART, well known for his sagacity and persuasiveness, has done an excellent job of negotiating at Ottawa on behalf of the province of British Columbia, it appears evident. He comes back from the Dominion capital with an agreement providing for grants in aid or the equivalent thereof which will net this province some nine million dollars per year more than it has been getting. He yields, in return therefor, a "lease" on the income tax, corporation tax, succession duties and other lesser prerogatives for five years. In other words, he obtains from Ottawa some sixty percent more than British Columbia was getting before in return for no greater temporary concessions and exactly no permanent commitments.

The approval by the session of the Legislature next month of Mr. Hart's agreement is, of course, a foregone conclusion. It would appear to be worthy of unanimous endorsation.

The agreement will make it possible for British Columbia to proceed with a number of undertakings and projects of major importance which have been hanging fire for some time, important among these being items of social legislation and educational program. It will make possible wider assistance to the municipalities which is expected to be recommended in the pending report of the Goldenberg commission.

It had been conceded that Mr. Hart would arrive at a satisfactory agreement with Ottawa. From all that can be gathered from the announcement which was made by the Premier yesterday, it has been an eminently satisfactory one.

Another Excuse

T SEEMS to be a "doubtful" explanation which Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, the minister of trade and commerce, has offered for the recent sudden and entirely unexpected decision to call off grain shipments to the Prince Rupert elevator. The minister gives as the reason the fact that the northern Alberta crop this year has been a wet one and that the local elevator has not sufficient grain being handled here. It might be well as the Prince

Rupert Chamber of Commerce will doubtless do, to advise the minister, although it seems incredible if he does not already know, about the drying facilities of the plant which has capabilities equal to that of any of the major terminal drying of wet grain. Prince Rupert is getting fed up with the various excuses that are being so regularly offered for passing the place up. This of Mr. MacKinnon's about the calling off of grain shipments is one that we would like to have further explained.

brings you ferfumes from France

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE in the Cannes, Grasse and Nice regions of France earn their living in the growing and processing of orange flowers, jasmine, roses and other flowers for perfumes. Thousands of people in Canada earn their living directly or indirectly in the production of nickel.

A large part of the perfume produced in France is exported to other lands. Less than three per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is consumed in Canada. The rest is exported, and the money received helps to pay for French perfumes and other products necessary to good living in Canada. Canada cannot keep on importing from other lands unless Canadian goods are exported.

Each increase in the export of Canadian Nickel means more workers employed in the Canadian Nickel industry. It also means jobs for the other thousands of Canadians who produce the power, steel, lumber, explosives, machinery and supplies used by the Canadian Nickel industry.

By constantly expanding the use of Nickel at home and abroad, the Canadian Nickel industry brings additional benefits to Canada and Canadians.
